A supermarket with a different recipe.

We've opened a fresh new Waitrose in Cowbridge and we're quite unlike other supermarkets. Our customers often say that shopping with us is different from shopping anywhere else. They say they find the quality of our food and the standard of our service higher than in other supermarkets. In fact, our customers have voted us Britain's favourite Food and Grocery Retailer for seven years running*, and we hope that you'll feel the same.

Turn the page to read about the special things we put into the Waitrose mix.

Your fresh new shop is now open on Birds Lane. To find out more about what makes us different visit us at waitrose.com

Partnership. It's our secret ingredient.

At Waitrose, we call ourselves "Partners", because everyone who works here owns a share of the business. When you shop at Waitrose you'll notice the difference this makes, because we all care personally that you are looked after well. Many of us choose to train as specialists in fish, meat, wine or cheese and our passion and knowledge can help turn your meal into something special. So if you'd like a recommendation, you can ask an expert.

All things nice.

We believe that few things in life are more important than good food, and that eating well is one of life's great pleasures. But it's not just the quality of our food that sets it apart. It's the way we buy it, too. We treat all our farmers and producers with integrity and courtesy, whatever their size and wherever they're based. All our suppliers meet the highest standards of sustainability and animal welfare, too.

And we're closer than other supermarkets to the grass roots of food production, because we have our very own farm – the Leckford Estate in Hampshire. There we produce juicy English Cox's apples, mushrooms, milk and wheat for flour, all of which finds its way onto the shelves or into the chillers at Waitrose.

Becoming part of the community.

Even before we opened the doors to your new Waitrose, we were putting down roots so we can be part of what makes Cowbridge thrive. For example, we recently supported the Cowbridge Food & Drinks Festival. And we're championing local suppliers, looking for the best products from your area to stock on our shelves.

Your fresh new branch is open, so you'll be able to play a part too. Our Community Matters scheme offers financial support to local projects and charities, and when you shop at Waitrose you can help decide which local causes we support.

Barry RNLI gets a new 'crewman'

– AND HE'S GOING TO GET VERY DAMP!

LEFT: From left to right: Hugh Davies, (coxswain), Dean Caldwell (medic), local funeral director Lyndsay Ellis, Chris Osborne, and Richard Tutton (mechanic).

A BARRY company has provided the £500 required by the local RNLI to have an up-to-date 'search and rescue dummy'.

So, why does Barry RNLI need a dummy? Well, the answer is quite surprising because, as coxswain Hugh Davies explained to The GEM, it will make a real contribution to lifesaving in the seas around Barry.

Hugh said: "We will be using the dummy to chart the currents in the area, so if someone is swept away or lost overboard, we will have the most up-to-date information on where to look for them."

That information could shave vital minutes off a search and rescue mission – so the benefits are obvious!

When the RNLI crew are out training, the dummy will be a 'man overboard' – and then the crew will chart its progress.

The donation has come from Lyndsay Ellis of Vale Funeral Service, who said: "I am pleased to support our RNLI Station and be able to fund the £500 for their new search and rescue dummy, due to the other one 'retiring'.

"The work that the people at the RNLI do 365 days of the year is a vital part of Barry and Vale life, and when I was asked, there was no hesitation in helping out.

"Barry RNLI will be my chosen charity for the forthcoming year and any community events held by the company will be in aid of this worthwhile cause."

Hugh Davies added that there was one other way in which the dummy could help with training.

He said: "We also need training so that crew members are familiar with the problems involved in getting a casualty out of the sea and into a rescue boat."

Father's anger at drivers in Dinas morning traffic

A father who walks his children to school along the main road in Dinas Powys, said he is "angry as hell" after witnessing the behaviour of drivers in the early-morning traffic through the village.

The man, who doesn't want to be named, claims drivers were not making safety a priority.

He explained: "Every morning, I see drivers surfing the web, phoning, reading papers and applying lipstick – anything but watching the road.

"I walk my kids to school every day along Cardiff Road, Dinas Powys.

"At 8:30am, the traffic speed can be anything from 40mph to a standstill, but the average speed is probably 10mph.

"My totally unscientific count recently showed that one in four drivers were distracted from the road – 25 per cent. This is shocking."

The father said that one morning he saw a heavy goods vehicle moving at between five mph and 10 mph without the driver watching the road.

"He was concentrating on something on his passenger seat. A phone? A TV? Paperwork? Who knows. All I know is that he drove a significant distance right past me without noticing the road – or me staring at him.

"Parents often cross the road here with their kids between slow traffic."

The man has reported the incident to the company concerned.

"I am angry as hell at this driver for endangering the safety of my children and I don't care if he is fired for this."

He has also written to the head of road safety at the Vale Council.

A police spokeswoman told The GEM: "Anyone with issues regarding motoring offences or any further issues in their community should report it to their local policing team by calling 101."

Barry arrest

A 21-YEAR-OLD man has been arrested and charged for allegedly attempting to steal a moped on Gladstone Road, Barry.

Police said that the incident occurred at around 3am on Monday October 29, when officers witnessed a man trying to remove the parked moped from outside a property on the street.

A man had since been charged with attempted theft and was released on bail.

Three charged with burglary

THREE men have been arrested and charged following a burglary in Dinas Powys.

Police stated that a property on Pen-y-Turnpike Road was entered on Saturday, October 20, and a mobile phone, cash and keys to the homeowner's two vehicles were stolen.

The suspects made off in the vehicles, a Toyota Yaris and a Honda Civic.

Police stated that three men, aged 40, 32 and 29, had been charged with burglary and theft of a motor vehicle. They have been remanded in custody.

Shanice stars on her catwalk debut during Cardiff Fashion Week

BARRY girl Shanice Cullinane made her catwalk debut last Thursday (October 25) at Cardiff Fashion Week, and has received praise for her performance from event organisers.

She told The GEM: "It was really good. I was nervous, but it went really well and everyone was really nice.

"There were fittings with different brands. We rehearsed all day and I got to meet some designers in Cardiff.

"I did four brands that night and it was so much fun. I modelled the latest winter fashions and the clothes were really nice, which was a big plus.

"My family were thrilled for me, although they couldn't get tickets for the event because they were already sold out. I would prefer them not to be there though, because they would have just put me off and made me laugh."

Shanice Cullinane

The 18-year-old Barry College student was spotted by talent scouts working at her part-time job in American fashion giant Hollister, and took to the catwalk at the Kuku Club in Cardiff after catching the eye of London agency Model Union. It was a really good experience and I hope to do something like that again in the future."

Event organisers were just as upbeat about Shanice's debut, with Paula Abbandonato of Vibe PR delighted with her image.

She said: "Shanice did brilliantly. It was our first time seeing her, and she looked confident, had a very good walk and seemed older than she is, which is a good thing!

"She has fabulous hair – very big – and if she was nervous it didn't show. We were very proud of her.

"She's now going to London to get her portfolio done and we are hoping the Welsh girl can go far. We can imagine her in all the glossies!"

'New LDP must protect Wenvoe'

THE Wenvoe Residents' Action Group (WRAG) would like to respond to comments made by Redrow in The GEM (October 4 edition).

We would like to point out that the Vale Council had identified land to the west of Port Road as "suitable for residential development" as part of the LDP only from Phase 3 (2021 onwards) – if all other more suitable sites in the Vale had already been used and if there was still a pressing housing need.

This application for outline planning permission is clearly opportunistic in the extreme. No one from Redrow has approached WRAG to ask what villagers' concerns are.

We understand that the revised LDP is due to be published next month – but, sadly, despite Labour's encouraging pledges before the May elections, we now have no confidence that the plan will have been properly taken "back to the drawing-board", as promised by Labour earlier this year.

We are sincerely hoping that the Vale Council is taking its responsibilities as seriously as it should.

The Planning Inspectorate report of 1999 stated that Wenvoe needed protection from "inappropriate development in the countryside"; and that "any further residential development of Wenvoe should be strictly limited to the area within its settlement boundary".

The Inspectorate further recommended that "the area surrounding Wenvoe, outside the settlement boundary, should be designated green belt".

If recommendations by the Planning Inspectorate are simply to be disregarded when the council so chooses (which is what has happened for the last 13 years), what is the point in having them there in the first place?

We very much hope that sense will prevail in the forthcoming months, in the council rejecting the current Redrow planning application, and in removing the site entirely from the LDP when it is re-published, and including a green belt for the eastern Vale.

Elizabeth Mildred
WRAG, Wenvoe.

Blame the Government!

I AM writing following a letter in last week's edition; headlined 'Vale must challenge Assembly'.

Whilst I agree that the Labour Council group's pledge to scrap the LDP was a cynical ploy ahead of the local government elections, I must stress that it is not the 'Assembly' that has imposed such stringent housing targets on the Vale of Glamorgan Council – rather it was the Welsh Government.

This is an important distinction. As Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly, I have consistently challenged the Welsh Government to justify these targets and to explain the formula by which they were calculated.

I have also called for a 12-month moratorium on the LDP in the Vale which would give the council an opportunity to go back to residents and engage in a proper consultation over the type and scale of development that they wish to see.

Vitally, this would give the Welsh Government minister a chance to explain the excessive and seemingly arbitrary housing targets.

If the Labour-run Vale Council were to join me in this call and lobby their colleagues in the Welsh Government for a moratorium on the LDP, then they would prove that their pledge wasn't just cynical electioneering.

That would be a result for the people of the Vale.

New airport needed to put Wales on the map!

IT was with interest that I read the letter from Mr Luke Nicholas recently published in The GEM, regarding the status of Cardiff Airport – 'Assembly must have a stake in the airport'.

What he says is perfectly true and the current owners seem to be showing little interest in developing or investing in the airport further.

It is not surprising to hear that Bristol Airport is booming, with flights from there being far less expensive than those from Cardiff Airport. Cardiff Airport's location can hardly be described as convenient, either, with it being closer to Barry and around 12 miles from Cardiff city centre. Even more from the M4 corridor!

I personally do not feel that flying into Cardiff Airport can be considered a pleasurable experience, or a good advertisement for Wales – given its current location and status.

However, I do agree that political leadership does need to be taken; but this needs to be decisive and not simply by pouring public money into an airport that is not just withering on the vine (so aptly put by Mr Nicholas) but seems to be quite clearly about to fall off the vine!

I appreciate we live in austere times, but if anything is to be considered, it should be to look ahead at the bigger picture on the future development and inward investment for Wales.

Maybe it is time to think of building a new 'state-of-the-art' airport in a more accessible and convenient location for the M4 corridor, perhaps somewhere between Cardiff and Newport – where there seems to be plenty of land available.

After all, if billions of pounds can be spent on a one-off event like the Olympic Games, why can't Wales have a new airport to put it on the map?

Andrew Small,
Cowbridge.

Fly-grazing: Time for the Assembly to take action

YOUR correspondent's frustration (GEM letters, last week) at the lack of identification of the culprits of the recent fly-grazing incident in Colwinston, suggests that she is unaware of the difficult background to such events.

These were highlighted by two in-depth reports on BBC Wales News on Thursday and Friday last.

These reports confirmed my own experience where aggression and intimidation were very apparent.

Indeed, there was evidence of subsequent retaliation as a result of complaints from Colwinston residents.

Notwithstanding this, the authorities were pro-active in seeking evidence and took rapid action to deal with the mess which resulted from the incident.

It is, however, clear from the BBC report that this is a widespread and serious matter which requires multi-agency – indeed, Welsh Government, action.

Heads must roll over the wasted millions...

HOW is it that this UK Government can be allowed to waste our money, (taxpayers' money), on projects that are total failures?

Nick Cleggs' alternative vote fiasco put some £90million down the tubes, and now we have this rail franchise calamity, whereby it is estimated that the cost to us (the taxpayer) will be around over £40million.

Why have no heads of Government been sacked for sheer gross incompetence? If we underpay our taxes, HMRC claw back the money, yet if Government ministers waste millions of our pounds, nothing is done.

It's about time this Government was brought to account.

They must not be allowed to waste our money and get away with it any longer. As Cameron is the head, he should resign with immediate effect.

D Radford, Barry

Just what kind of a nation are we?

IT is a historical fact, that 100 years ago, the British Conservative Party desperately opposed the efforts of the Liberal Government to introduce unemployment benefit and the old age pension for the first time.

Mrs Thatcher waged war on the miners, at vast national cost, and on the unemployed poor, and half of the population applauded, because they were not themselves adversely affected.

Today, George Osborne intends to cut the living standards of the babies of the unemployed, if the baby is the third or fourth in the family – a short while after he has cut the income tax of millionaires – because he believed that this financial inducement was essential for the well-being of the nation.

What kind of nation have we created? Now we make war on babies.

Neville Westerman,
Brynna

Consultation and LDP in the Vale

WHAT an astonishing claim from Coun Probert in her letter: 'Vale's new LDP will set out plans for the next 15 years' (The GEM, October 18).

She said: "No-one in the ward, Illtyd, knew about the previous Tory deposit LDP …. until we told them." We suspect many Labour candidates were unaware of the draft LDP until they read our election leaflets.

Let us recap on the sequence of events: FocusBARRY supporters have been campaigning on this issue since 2007, especially following the Labour/Plaid/Llantwit First cabinet decision to endorse the strategy in December of that year.

The LDP has been discussed at many FocusBARRY meetings: indeed, we arranged two special meetings and invited members of the public to attend them, the last in Illtyd Ward, on March 2 this year.

By then, the proposal for the land at Weycock Cross had been included in the draft and, because of the importance we placed on this matter, our members paid for an independent planning consultant to address our meeting.

In contrast, the council's consultation was the usual disappointing process.

Labour election leaflets for Barry and Illtyd Ward did not mention the LDP and then, with just a week to go, Labour advertised in a full page spread in The GEM that they would scrap the LDP.

John Donovan, James Osborne
(Illtyd Independent candidates and FocusBARRY supporters)

Questions from FoE

THE next meeting of Barry&Vale Friends of the Earth will be on Tuesday, November 6, at 7.30pm in the Castle Hotel, Jewel Street, Barry.

Given global warming, which has produced Hurricane Sandy, devastating the Caribbean and New York; and given world-wide flooding and drought, from the Phillipines to Wales, Barry&Vale FoE wonder about the sustainability of Barry Waterfront and proposals for more green field housing in Rhoose and Wenvoe.

Barry&Vale FoE will be inviting local politicians to discuss environmental concerns, at a meeting on December 4 – Severn Barrage and incinerators, or more alternative energy and windfarms?

Barry&Vale FoE hope for a good Yuletide response from politicians who purport to be environmentalists.

Keith Stockdale,
(Barry&Vale FoE co-ordinator)

Too much 'PR-speak' on Penarth Esplanade

THERE are fine words but little action in the ongoing saga of Penarth's well-loved Esplanade, which remains in a continued state of dereliction and is still suffering a lack of attention.

The rhetoric from both the Vale Council and the site's owners recently was pure 'PR-speak', and showed no definite plan of action to address the issue of a derelict building site in the middle of a prime conservation area, which is now in its third season of decay.

Whilst I recognise the difficulties the Vale Council may have in dealing with a developer who has not given any sign of real progress, other than putting up a few pretty posters of the proposed development, and enclosing the site with high hoardings, they have not now, or indeed previously, done much to encourage the development to either commence, or be sold on to another buyer - with the benefit of the existing planning consent.

Council spokespeople may put out soothing words to the public, but the reality is that businesses along the seafront have suffered now for three years or more, and the public are heartily sick of seeing an abandoned site with no trace of action being taken.

Coupled with another nearby property in Bridgeman Road, which has been gradually falling to pieces for five years or more without any restoration taking place, the council has a real problem on its hands, which the current administration seems powerless to address, despite its election promises to 'listen to the people of Penarth'.

Coun Anthony Ernest, Penarth

HIGH TIDE TIMES
(UNTIL NOVEMBER 8)

The high tides listed in this week's GEM are those in Porthcawl. It should be remembered that along the coast, high tide times will vary. For instance, in Barry, the high point will be 20 – 25 minutes later.

DATE	Time AM	Ht M	Time PM	Ht M
01 Thur	07.24	9.5	19.38	9.3
02 Fri	07.57	9.3	20.11	9.2

'Council politics has changed'

SAYS UNSEATED EMLYN –

'and it is not Sour Grapes..!'

FORMER Barry Illtyd councillor, Emlyn Williams has written to The GEM to express his dismay at the manner in which local politics is now carried out.

In May this year, he lost his seat in the Illtyd ward, but he claims the way the campaign was conducted was regrettable.

He said that in years gone by, councillors debated and argued in a civilised manner, and considered themselves to be working for the good of the community, rather than being mere adversaries.

He said it was a sadness to him that some councillors now look upon the position as a job, rather than service to the community.

Here is his letter*:

It is a very sad day in local government when you see politically-minded people – I say political because in my 37 years I always considered and believed we as councillors worked solely for the community, not for any political gains.

The May local elections were a very sad day – Labour, Plaid Cymru, independents, FocusBARRY and Liberal Democrats, all had the same aim of targeting Illtyd ward and getting the Tories out.

As a councillor, I first represented Castleland ward and then Illtyd as a Conservative. My aim was to work and represent the community in their concerns and needs.

Gone now are 'the good old days' of people like Fred Cook Ken Adams, Don Whitchurch, Arthur Connell, and Hector Gosling. Fred, Hector, and Ken were all Labour councillors who I respected.

Now we have people in the council who haven't been in long enough to remove their political napkins, shouting: 'Get the Tories out'.

One Labour councillor made a statement I will never forget: "We, Labour, will never work with the Conservatives."

It is very sad when we are all supposed to work and represent the community.

The parties mentioned earlier deliberately misled the residents in Pontypridd Road, Weycock Cross and Port Road of new estates to be constructed at the rear of their homes, and at that time, it hadn't been discussed at council meetings. If and when, the LDP is on the table, nothing will develop for approximately eight to 10 years. Yet, according to the three new councillors in Illtyd ward, if the sitting councillors were returned, the plan would go ahead. So who carried out the scaremongering?

The most insulting election comment made by the three Labour candidates I regard is: "We will make Illtyd ward a better place to live in" and incidentally, they didn't even live in the ward! It is a sad day for local government when many councillors today regard their position today as a job, not service for the community.

No doubt replies will be headed something like: 'Sour Grapes', but after 37 years, I am used to such remarks.

E T Williams

The GEM will be happy to carry a response from a Labour spokesperson to the points raised by Emlyn Williams next week.

Town Council is sponsoring three Christmas events

BARRY Town Council is sponsoring three major events in Barry in the run-up to Christmas.

They include the Rotary Club's Firework Fiesta on Monday, November 5 at Barry Island, commencing at 7.45pm; the Barry Schools' Concert to be held at the Memorial Hall and Theatre on Wednesday, November 21, and the switching on of the Christmas lights in the High Street On Friday, November 23.

Cliff Lewis, Town Clerk

'Firework Fiesta is to go ahead, whatever the weather' – say Rotary

ON Monday, November 5, the Rotary Club of Barry is holding its 39th Fireworks Fiesta and many people travel from across the Vale to enjoy the extravaganza.

The fireworks start at 7.45pm and Rotarians have promised that the display will go ahead, whatever the weather.

People are advised to start arriving on the Island from 6pm to avoid a last minute rush.

Parking is available in the main car parks for £2 a vehicle, and there will be limited disabled parking on Friars Road.

This year's local Rotary president, John Shapland, said:

"We'd appeal to everyone attending to donate at least £1 into the collection buckets to assist in our funding of the event.

"If everyone gave at least £1, we can ensure the continuation of the event, and help deserving causes much more."

Organisers point out that people attending the event can also use the Arriva train service, or the Barry Tourist Railway on the night, from between 6pm and 9pm.

Speaker urges Rotarians to 'think positive'

LEFT: Rotary president Ged Crosby with Richard Hind and Tony Bennett.

AT a recent club dinner meeting, Dinas Powys Rotary Club were given an excellent talk by Tony Bennett, a man who has spent a lifetime in the catering industry.

He arranged parties for the Queen and was the banqueting manager at the Café Royal. After taking early retirement from the catering business, he took his interests in a different direction, and discovered personal development, life coaching and hypnotherapy.

As Tony explained to the assembled Rotarians, the power of positive thinking and how positive thinking really does change your brain. The science is called neuroplasticity, which means that our thoughts can change the structure and function of our brains.

Tony went on to say that the science of neuroplasticity has the power to change the brain's structure, even for those with severe neurological afflictions.

People with problems like strokes, cerebral palsy, and mental illness could train other areas of their brains through repetitive mental and physical activities.

A typical example was fear of failure: Every time a negative thought creeps in, retrain your brain to think a positive thought about your abilities instead.

Then take small actions every day toward achieving your goal or desired change.

A vote of thanks was given by Rotarian Richard Hind. CJ

PENARTH HOSPICE BENEFITS FROM GROUP'S GREAT DEEDS

'Whatever you do... don't look down!'

ABOVE: The group of trekkers conquered the Grand Canyon recently for the Marie Curie Hospice in Penarth.

THE Marie Curie Hospice, Penarth benefited from the generosity of a group of south Wales trekkers who recently conquered to the Grand Canyon.

The hospice's fifth annual trek saw the group take on a gruelling five-day challenge, trekking though the amazing landscape of the Sedona Desert and the Grand Canyon, battling with intense heat and rocky terrain.

They also embarked on a very challenging and steep descent to Mooney Falls, using chains and ladders to assist them on their way down.

Each day presented the trekkers with a set of challenges which were at times very daunting for people with fears of water and heights.

The group were amazing and all pulled together as a team.

The last day saw the group take on the steep ascent out of the canyon, trekking for 10 miles conquering the famous location.

On behalf of all the staff, we would like to thank and congratulate every single person for the effort and achievement in raising an amazing £67,696.87.

This money, after costs, will go towards the care provided at the local hospice to terminally ill people.

On Tuesday, November 13 at 6pm, the hospice will be launching its sixth 'Trek to the Inca Trail, Peru', which takes place in May 2014.

If you'd like to hear more about our next big adventure, call in at the fundraising office, or telephone 02920 426068. HG

HINTS AND TIPS FROM PENARTH COMPUTER CLUB

AT the latest meeting, it was time to introduce new members to the 'golden rules' and 'hints and tips'.

Carrying the sub-title of: 'What I wish someone had told me when I started', it also serves as revision for the old hands, because we all tend to forget things.

Howard made a presentation that emphasised the thinking behind the rules and hints rather than demonstrating detail.

He pointed out that our website carries topical reports, see: Forum>2011>'16th October', and 'Working Efficiently (Tips)'. A document containing 'how to' details can be downloaded from the site at Downloads>'hints and tips 2009' (update on the way!)

Briefly, the golden rules are:

– Never answer 'yes' to a question that you do not understand. The safe option: say no to avoid any unintended consequences.

– Back up your files! The only people who don't are those who have not lost any yet. Why, what, when, where and how you back up is a matter of your choice and depends upon the value you place on the files. This topic will be treated in depth at the next meeting.

– Keep on learning. We acquire skills at our own pace. Explore other ways of doing things. Copy a good idea.

– There are always several ways to carry out even the simplest task in Windows. The best one for you is unlikely to be the first you find, so keep looking.

– Sources of ideas can be found on websites and in computing agony columns in newspapers and magazines. And, of course, the club can help.

Everyone will have a personal 'top ten tips'. Here are the ones I think merit early attention.

– Manipulate Windows! Howard noted more than 38 ways of adjusting one or more windows on the screen; from dragging one side of a single window to keyboard shortcuts that change all at once. Alt+Tab will bring hidden windows to the front for viewing.

– Keep only shortcuts on the desktop to avoid accidentally deleting an application.

– Selection from a list. Learn to use 'Ctrl' and 'Shift' for efficiency.

– Arranging lists to make selection easier still. Click on the column headings to change the order of the listing.

– Moving around lists. Use initial letters and/or the slider bar on the right.

– Customise each application's default file storage location. Use 'My Documents' to ease the task of backing up.

– 'In between' sizes of fonts can be used. Applies to zoom options too.

– Spellchecker. Use the correct language, usually UK English.

– Autocorrect can work harder. You can invent your own time-saving corrections (up to 256 characters long).

– Use Wildcards – '*' and '?'. These are great help in searches.

These basic tips are useful across most of computing. If you have an unusual problem, someone will have found a solution and made it available somewhere. You just have to find it. Enjoy the search!

The next meeting is on Tuesday November 13 at All Saints Lesser Hall, Victoria Square, Penarth at 8pm. Topic: 'Backing up files: the latest thinking'. See: penarthcomputerclub.co.uk.

School council at the Senedd

The High Street school council with Jane Hutt.

Pupils from Barry's High Street school council visited the Ty Hywel Education Centre and Senedd last week to find out more about the National Assembly for Wales and meet their Assembly Member, Jane Hutt, before watching her answer questions in the Chamber.

Afterwards she reported: "They were lively and well-informed about my role and responsibilities, as well as the important part they were playing in serving on the school council."

Barry Armistice Day

THE Barry branch of the Royal British Legion will be holding an Armistice Day parade on Sunday, November 11.

All organisations and the Royal British Legion will gather at 10.15am on King Square, Barry, ready to march at 10.30am.

The parade will march down through the town centre to Barry Civic Offices and wreaths will be placed on the Cenotaph to remember the fallen of the Merchant Navy.

The parade will march on to Barry Memorial Hall for 11am, for the commemoration service, lay weaths at the Cenotaph, and pay tribute to all who lost their lives in all conflicts.

Afterwards, the parade will continue into the Barry Memorial Hall for a short service.

Shakespeare Schools Festival

FOR the first time in Barry, four schools from the Vale will take part in the nationwide Shakespeare Schools Festival (SSF), and make the bard's words their own at the Memorial Hall on Thursday, November 8.

Taking to stage will be High Street Primary with A Midsummer Night's Dream', Romilly Primary School with Twelfth Night, Gladstone Primary School with Macbeth, and Murch Junior School with Romeo and Juliet.

For further details, telephone 01446 738622, or visit: www.memorialhalltheatre.co.uk.

Racing kart puts injured troops in the driving seat

INJURED soldiers in the Vale are to benefit from a new purpose-built racing kart, after charity KartForce received a charitable donation from a local business.

SilverFoxKarting, a business that provides kart coaching, events and engineering services, has raised more than £6,000 to build the new kart, which will be fitted with hand controls that can be easily adapted, depending on the injury of its driver.

Fitted with pedals and KartForce hand controls, the dual control kart allows troops with differing injuries, as severe as triple amputations, to compete together as a team on a totally level playing field with non-injured drivers.

The new kart, which has had many of its components donated by engine manufacturers, will be used by injured troops who want to take part in karting on a competitive level at championships across the UK.

After seeing a team of ex-servicemen compete in the Inter Services Karting Championships in an outdated kart, SilverFoxKarting's founders, Colin Lipscomb and Ken Denscombe, decided that they wanted to do something to help.

Colin, who spent nine years in the Royal Air Force, said: "When we saw the team of ex-servicemen, we were touched by their spirit and outlook on life.

"Between the four drivers, none of them had a full set of limbs. We wanted to do something to help the great work of KartForce.

"Anybody can put their hand in their pocket and donate some money but we wanted to do something that that we knew would make a difference, so we went about building a new racing kart for the charity by using donations from the karting industry, and from friends who support this cause."

The new kart was presented to members of KartForce by SilverFoxKarting and investment management firm Brewin Dolphin, at a special race day organised in the charity's honour.

The KartForce Challenge Cup, which took place at South Wales Karting Centre, was organised by SilverFoxKarting to raise further funds for KartForce and two related charities – the RAF Benevolent Fund and Army Benevolent Fund.

More than 20 teams took part in the four-hour endurance race, approved by the RAF Motorsport Association, donating their £80 entrance fee to the three charities. Organisers and the South Wales Karting Centre gave up their time and facilities for free for the cause.

A KartForce team of four took part in the Challenge Cup, made up of Martyn Compton (27) from Lydd in Kent, who received 80 per cent burns during an ambush on his vehicle; Stephen Shine (29) from London, who had his leg amputated above the knee after his tank was attacked in Iraq; Mark Allen (20) from Kings Lynn, who lost both of his legs above the knee, and the tip of his nose and several of his fingers after being struck by an IED in Afghanistan and, Davie Birrell (25) from Fife, who lost both of his legs below the knee, also due to an IED strike in Afghanistan.

FORUM LOOKING FOR NEW MEMBERS FOR COMING YEAR

THE Barry Men's Forum (BMF) was started in 1967 by six members, headed by Rev Gwyfryn Pugh in his front room – it now has 60 members who continue to enjoy illustrated talks given each week on numerous topics.

The meetings are held every Thursday morning from 10.15am at Windsor Road United Reformed Church Hall, and finish by noon.

On November 1, Mr Roy Gee, who had a career with the RSPCA, is talking on 'Tails to Tales'.

The BMF held its 45th AGM last week, under the chairmanship of Peter Westcott. Three members of the committee, Mike Gray, Paul Gilbertson and Mac Tanner, who had all served for more than five years, were thanked for their efforts in helping the forum go from strength to strength.

New committee officials elected were: deputy chairman – Ian Birchenough; treasurer – John Davies, programme secretary – Ceri Harris; and scribe – Philip Walters.

Cliff Tipples and Brian Lees agreed to continue their duties of providing the sound and visual aids for the talks.

Diane Westcott was thanked for her unstinting work in providing the refreshments for the last three years, and for the coming year.

On November 8, Viv Head will be relating his experiences of 'Policing at Cardiff Dock'.

New members are welcome and can contact the chairman Peter Westcott on 02920 594881. PMW

ALL SAINTS PRIMARY SCHOOL PUPILS WEAR ORANGE TO SUPPORT ARTHRITIS CHARITY

STAFF and pupils at All Saints Church in Wales Primary School supported National Arthritis Day recently by wearing orange to school. Arthritis is a debilitating disease which can affect old and young alike, so everyone was enthusiastic about supporting this worthy cause.

Headteacher Richard Ware said he was "proud" of the pupils, who take their fundraising seriously – around £250 was collected for the charity.

Barry celebrates 60 years of Welsh medium education

LAST month, a special event was held by Cymrodorion y Barri at Tabenacle Church Kings Square – celebrating 60 years of Welsh medium education in Barry and the Vale.

The evening was opened by Mr Euryn Ogwen Williams, who explained that Heulwen Cooper, who would be introducing the events that evening, was the first named child on the entry registers for the new Welsh medium school when it opened in January 1952.

Heulwen then proceeded to mention some of the points that she could recall of the school in its first years.

Her parents had been part of the committee set up to organise the new school and who met regularly at the home of the late Mr Dan Evans.

The school commenced in the church and vestry of the Cadoxton Methodist Church above the Royal Hotel in Cadoxton.

There had been 15 pupils at the school on the first day, nine of whom were in the class taught by Miss Elinor Williams in the lower, damp and dark vestry of the church.

The school had, in fact, commenced in the preceding autumn, the teacher's salary paid by the parents, as the school was not actually taken over by the local authority until the following January.

She remembered that they had to march down to a room in Vere Street, below the Cadoxton School, where the school dinners were served, and that the park opposite the church was used as a playground.

The school eventually moved to the Sant Francis site, from where Ysgol Sant Baruc commenced, followed by Ysgol Sant Curig, Ysgol Gwaun y Nant, Ysgol Bro Morgannwg and, eventually, Ysgol Nant Talwg.

We were entertained by groups of pupils from several of these schools.

It was a wonderful evening very much enjoyed by all who attended.

All the schools were thanked for their outstanding performances and the chairman remarked on how the Welsh school had grown from the 15 initial pupils to a few thousand current pupils.

The evening closed with the National Anthem.

To mark 60 years of Welsh medium education in the Vale, a celebration dinner will be held on Friday, November 9 at the Mount Sorrel Hotel.

Past pupils, parents, or members of staff, are invited. Tickets are £23 and are available from Rhoswen Deiniol, on 01446 405984. HC

Volunteer within your community!

A new Disability Inclusion Project with Scope Sully is looking for supportive volunteers aged 18+ in its aim to reduce loneliness, isolation and improve the wellbeing for disabled people aged 50+ in the Vale.

There are a number of service users waiting to be matched to suitable volunteers, for example accompanying a young man to attend occasional social events.

Or perhaps helping a friendly, chatty lady who is unable to go out on her own as she needs a wheelchair outdoors.

These are just two of our service users but we have many more who would love to have a supportive volunteer and enjoy some social interaction.

In return, the organisation will provide full training, help to develop new skills and reimburse travel expenses.

For further information, contact: Vale Volunteer Bureau, 34 Holton Road, Barry, on Monday-Friday, 10am-4pm, call: 01446 421782, Email: info@vvb.org.uk, or visit: www.vvb.org.uk.

Tories' blueprint to revive Welsh high street is launched

THE Leader of the Welsh Conservatives in the Assembly, Andrew RT Davies, has launched a plan to revitalise the Welsh High Street.

The launch took place in Barry at the Mount Sorrell Hotel, and was followed by visits to a number of small businesses on Barry High Street, including Food for Thought, Jacqui's Greengocers, The Lush Cake Company, and Vic Hopkin & Sons Butchers.

Among the Conservatives' proposals to revive the High Street are a consultation on business rates to make the Welsh economy more competitive; a charter for High Streets so 'best practice' is shared; town centre managers, and more planning guidance from the Welsh Government.

Assembly Members are being invited to 'adopt' a local high street in their local constituency and Mr Davies chose Barry High Street.

He said: "I will be working proactively to champion High Street, Barry, liaising with local shoppers and businesses, as well as local authorities and interest groups, such as the Chamber of Trade.

"We've outlined a number of sensible proposals to help with this and I was heartened to hear the First Minister confirm that the Welsh Government will be considering these in detail.

"There needs to be a constructive partnership between local authorities and the Welsh Government to bring high streets back to the heart of local communities.

"This could include experimenting with free parking initiatives to make local shopping more convenient and competitive, particularly in the face of the rise and rise of out-of-town shopping centres."

Mr Davies added: "We also want to see reform of the Welsh Government's business rates system, which is currently a major obstacle to growth and which makes it difficult for small businesses to develop, expand and create new jobs."

Reader's view

Action this day!

OH DEAR! Methinks I spoke too soon! I refer to the prominent derelict site at the top of Thompson Street, Barry, next to the Liberal Club.

The GEM published letters from me on September 15, 2011 and September 29, too.

The first drew attention to the mess on this site and the second, after fencing was erected, praised the owner for tidying this site in the Castleland ward.

Since then, the fencing – flimsy at the best of times – has partially collapsed; the site is still undeveloped and unsightly, with rubbish beginning to reappear.

Why cannot the council do something here? Do they not have any enforcement powers?

I know they do. So why no action? With the change of administration, perhaps we may now see some action?

After all, one of the local Labour councillors sits in that inner sanctum – the cabinet!

Councillor welcomes reduction in some Vale leisure centre charges

A Penarth councillor says he has had charges for some indoor sports, such as tennis, reduced after making representations to the Vale Council.

Coun Anthony Ernest, who held responsibility for the council's five leisure centres until recently, was approached by a constituent who had been charged £9 for 45 minutes, when he and his children signed up for a game of tennis at Penarth.

Coun Ernest said it appeared that the new operators, Parkwood, were charging 'per person, per hour', rather than the previous rates of 'per court, per hour' – and it would have worked out at £16 per hour overall, compared with just £3.90 per hour at another major sports facility in Cardiff.

Said Coun Ernest: "Clearly there was a problem with these exhorbitant new rates and I took immediate action to find out why Penarth was now so expensive, compared with comparable leisure facilities elsewhere.

"There is no doubt that had these rates continued to be charged, that the useage of Penarth and the other Vale centres would have seriously suffered."

He added: "I am pleased to say that following my representations, the position was resolved within 24 hours, and the charges have now been reduced to a competitive level for these popular sports, on an 'hourly', rather than 'per person', basis."

When young Alf Mills played the ukelele and Arthur sang:

'Leave the pretty girls alone!'

GEM readers will remember my references to the late 1920s and '30s when we made our own entertainment and my mention of the late Arthur Fryer.

Arthur was a good entertainer, being the same age as myself, and if he requested my help, I tried to oblige with the ukulele and swanee whistle.

Generally, the venue was the local church hall and we were never booed nor had adverse comments!

One of Arthur's songs was 'Leave the pretty girls alone' and I strummed along to accompany him. The words are fresh in my memory and I have highlighted these in the following note.

I was 19 then — happy days!

ALFRED MILLS
Barry)
(aged 101)

Alf Mills putting in a bit of practice on his ukulele in his garden in Rhoose, circa 1930.

LEAVE THE PRETTY GIRLS ALONE

I met a pretty girl in London, with curly hair and eyes so blue.
Now listen as I tell my story and show you what a girl will do.
She wanted me to spend my money on a pretty diamond stone.
I put it on her hand on Sunday — on Monday she was gone!
Then I met a girl in Soho— thought that she was on the square. I don't know where she went from Soho but anyway I paid her fare!
Then I thought I'd learnt my lesson — thought the girls and I were through, till I met this pretty maiden who said she'd always love me true.
She said she didn't want my money but she took it just the same, because she saw that we got married and now I am a married man.
I used to be a carefree traveller; used to be a regular sheikh but Now I have to take my wages and turn them over every week.
So listen to the things I tell you; a woman's heart is made of stone.
You'd better listen to my warning and leave the pretty girls alone!

22 per cent of new housing in Vale affordable, council insists

THE Vale Council has revealed that more than 22 per cent of new housing in the area during 2011/12 was 'affordable'.

"This figure corrects that published in a recent Welsh Government report which put the level of new affordable homes in the Vale at 3 per cent the lowest in Wales," a spokeswoman stated, adding that there were concerns about the figure and council officials analysed the data submitted to the Local Government Data Unit.

This revealed that the returns failed to take into account sites that were developed and completed during the year to provide affordable housing.

Rob Thomas, director of development services, said: "The correct data shows that 22.6 per cent of all new housing provided in the Vale of Glamorgan during 2011/12 was affordable.

"This is in clear contrast to the 3 per cent reported in the recent 'Local Government Performance' report from the Local Government Data Unit.

The actual figures show a total of 40 affordable units provided out of a total of 177 units."

He added: "This revised figure has been submitted to Welsh Government, so that the records can be amended accordingly and more stringent checks have now been put in place prior to submitting returns in this important area."

VALE BUILDING PROJECTS ARE IN THE FRAME FOR 'BEST OF BRITISH' AWARD

LEFT: Town and Counties will be keeping their fingers crossed when they attend the national building excellence finals in London for their Penarth development.

TWO building projects completed recently in the Vale are in the frame for a 'best in Britain award'.

The ninth Vale Council Building Control Group 'Building Excellence Awards' were held earlier this year at The Mount Sorrel Hotel, and two of the Vale winners have now triumphed at the All Wales Building Excellence awards, at a gala ceremony at the Wales Millennium Centre in Cardiff.

The two winning Vale companies were Town and Counties, for extension and alteration work at 133, Plymouth Road, Penarth, and PS Holdings, in the commercial projects section, for their work building Pier 64, the new restaurant at Penarth Marina.

Marcus Goldsworthy, the operational manager for development and building control at The Vale Council, said: "It is a marvellous achievement that projects from the Vale have won two categories at the all-Wales event – and I believe that these projects can also win at the national awards in London on November 13 – where they will be up against projects from councils throughout England and the rest of the UK".

Coun Fred Johnson, chairman of the council's planning committee, added: "The winning projects have shown the quality of building work that is being undertaken throughout the Vale and we are proud to be part of such an important national awards event.

"We continue to support the annual awards and would like to thank our sponsors, who enabled the event to take place.

"They were: Nina Estate Agents; ACD Skip Hire; JPL Sound; The GEM; and The Mount Sorrel Hotel."

Former rugby star hits £40,000 fundraising target for the Ty Hafan hospice

In costume for a charity video are Brynmor Williams (left) and Robert Jones.

FORMER Wales and British Lions rugby star turned broadcaster, Brynmor Williams, has achieved his goal of raising £40,000 for Ty Hafan hospice this year.

In February, Brynmor, a director of Thomas Carroll Group plc, set out on a mission to raise £40,000 – to commemorate the insurance group's 40th anniversary.

As part of the fundraising effort, Brynmor, who lives in Cowbridge, stars in a new charity video as a 1970s-style action hero, in the character of 'Harry Lion', in the short film 'The Insurers – Mission for Ty Hafan.'

He also co-hosted a 40th birthday event at the Wales Millennium Centre, which pushed the total raised to £49,000.

In the film, Brynmor and his fellow 'Insurers' attempt to deliver a briefcase containing money to the Millennium Stadium, despite the attentions of a mysterious enemy spy.

He said: "It was great to see fellow directors abandoning their dignity, dressing up and acting for such an important cause. The video has certainly helped attract people to our charity page and spread awareness of our fundraising activities. I am pleased to have played my part in raising £49,000 for Ty Hafan."

Other fundraising events included a four-day 250-mile north to south Wales bike ride, the Three Peaks climb, and golfing events.

In a further example of his acting skills, Brynmor also appears in a second charity video with fellow rugby legend, Robert Jones MBE.

The two former scrum halves compare their sporting records in a verbal sparring match titled 'Alas Bryn and Jones'.

Thomas Carroll was founded on October 1, 1972, in Cardiff by Evan Thomas and Terry Carroll and their respective wives, Anne and Delma.

The company now employs 110 people, with headquarters in Caerphilly and offices in Swansea and Brecon.

The film 'The Insurers – Mission for Ty Hafan' and 'Alas Bryn and Jones' can be viewed at: www.thomascarroll.co.uk.

Severn Barrage row rumbles on as an AM calls for local focus

THE row over proposals to build a barrage between Lavernock Point and Somerset has continued, with local AM Andrew RT Davies calling for the Welsh Government to conduct a comprehensive consultation with local residents.

Mr Davies said it was time to end the uncertainty faced by residents in recent years. He was speaking following a debate in the Senedd on renewable energy from the Severn Estuary.

He said: "We have heard a lot of discussion about the potential impact on the local environment, and of course the potential economic footprint that a project of this size could have in Wales.

"It is clear that we have an energy source of great potential on our doorstep with the Severn Barrage project. Time and time again proposals have come forward and each time nothing concrete has emerged.

"If the Welsh Government are serious about the project, there needs to be a proper consultation and discussion with locals, as well as clarity over the likely deadline for a final decision. We can't keep people waiting in limbo forever.

"They need to decide whether this project is financially viable and consider how much, if any, public money will be earmarked for it.

"What we don't want is a wave of publicity and a huge fanfare, only for residents to find out further down the line that the project is to be put in mothballs once again."

Police hunt for Penarth burglars

POLICE are appealing for information following two burglaries at the Co-operative store on Windsor Road, Penarth.

At about 2am on Wednesday, October 24, two men forced entry into the premises via the front door.

A large quantity of cigarettes was stolen from the front kiosk before they made off.

At around 1am on Sunday October 28, the suspects returned, forced entry via the front doors of the shop and stole tobacco from the kiosk, before making off once again.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Barry CID on 101, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

• Police say a 36-year-old Cardiff man has been arrested in connection with the two burglaries.

Festive fayre

Marie Curie hospice, Penarth holds a Christmas fayre on Saturday, November 10, from 10.30am.

There will be an opportunity to buy Christmas cards, as well as Marie Curie merchandise, guess the weight of the cake, and a raffle.

£500 donation powers up ValePlus charity

ABERTHAW Power Station manager Phil Allen, recently presented a donation of £500 to Valeplus charity that provides educational, social and recreational day services for adults with learning disabilities in the Vale and Cardiff.

The donation will help to set up a new café at 5 High Street, Barry – Café No 5 – which will be opened to the public this month.

"As a local employer, we are really pleased to be able to support such a great venture and I'm sure many of our staff who live in the area will want to call in for a drink and a cake once the café is open", said Phil.

ValePlus has sessions open to those aged over-16 designed to help them achieve independence and employment. Up to 20 clients take part in the sessions in Barry each weekday and six attend a group in Llantwit Major on a Thursday and Friday.

"This is a fantastic donation and we are very grateful, as the refurbishment work in the café is mostly funded by ValePlus", added Valeplus director Steve Thomas.

"The trainees will have an opportunity to put their skills into action as they work in the business."

SECRET BUNKER WHERE WATCHERS WAITED FOR WARTIME INVASION

NINE Penarth and district Ramblers met Pam and Krys for a local walk in the Cefn Onn area, and walking north up a railway cutting, passed the golf course and a ventilation shaft for the railway tunnel that lay ahead, which can only be accessed on foot.

In 1871, the Rhymney Railway provided a link to Cardiff Dock and in 1858 the Rhymney Caerphilly line ran through the 1,935 yard tunnel taking the railway underneath Caerphilly Mountain.

The small railway station Cefn Onn Halt was opened by the Great Western Railway to serve the surrounding wooded area, but was finally closed in September 1986, as the area had changed and grown with the M4 motorway and the vast amount of housing development nearby.

Going uphill along a bridleway and passing a small stream, they joined a path through deciduous woodland and part of the 28-mile Rhymney Valley Ridgeway Walk to enjoy brilliant views over to Caerphilly Castle shrouded in mist that had still not burned off.

On continuing along the ridge and crossing road gates led into a field and then more woodland, from where a bridle path led downhill past ruined buildings into a small wooded valley.

Two footbridges over the stream were crossed in close succession at Coed Coesau eventually leading to a restored concrete bunker, built during World War Two to conceal a secret group known as the Auxiliary Unit, set up to relay vital information about the German invaders for counter attacks by the British.

A gradual climb uphill onto the ridge above the steep-sided Craig Llysfaen meant brilliant views across the Bristol Channel, taking in Flat and Steep Holm and crossing the ridge clear views of the Llanishen reservoirs and on to the Millennium Stadium and Cardiff Bay in the distance.

Passing the 264m trig point, the group joined Graig Road, following it downhill for a short while before a track leading past some houses saw them re-joining their initial path for the short trip back to Cefn Onn.

On November 4, meet at 9am at Cogan Leisure Centre for a nine-mile moderate/hard walk at Highmeadow Woods and the Wye Valley; contact Joy on 01446 737131.

Wear suitable clothing, preferably boots and carry waterproofs, food and drinks. Some degree of fitness is required and if you are in any doubt, then please contact the walk leader for advice. To follow the group please log onto www.penarthramblers.wordpress.com. Rucksack badges, programmes and membership advice can be obtained from Pam on 02920 255102.

NEWS FROM BARRY COMPREHENSIVE SCHOOL

Primary school pupils get a glimpse of things to come

AT the start of October, Barry Comprehensive School welcomed almost 300 year-6 boys to an action-packed day to introduce them to the school.

The visitors enjoyed a crash course in making music with a junk band, African drums, rock school and an introduction to music technology.

The hospitality and catering department got everyone making pizza and gave lots of tips about kitchen hygiene and safety.

The science department took over the school hall to investigate different sources of energy that featured demonstrations, hands-on practicals and even a hovercraft!

The year-6 visitors, and their sixth form chaperones, had plenty of opportunities to burn off their own excess energy with dodgeball in the gym, golf in the sports hall, street dancing and drama improvisation.

Enjoying the fruits of their labour in hospitality and catering.

LEFT: The Rock School professionals encouraged year-6 to have a go at making their own music during an entertaining crash course.

'GOVERNMENT TARGETS NOT BEING MET' – SAY REGIONAL AM AND MP

Conservative duo call for improved cancer treatment times in the Vale

TWO Conservative politicians are angry that targets concerning the time taken to start cancer treatments weren't being met in the Vale.

Both regional AM Andrew RT Davies and Vale MP Alun Cairns were "disappointed" that one in seven cancer patients starting urgent treatment in August were not seen within the Government's target time.

The Welsh Government's target is to treat 95 per cent within 62 days of being diagnosed. Alun Cairns claims that target has not been met since First Minister Carwyn Jones took up his position.

According to them, during August 2012, 11 people in Cardiff and the Vale out of a total of 75, more than one in seven, were not treated within 62 days – 10 per cent below the target. Figures for June (three per cent) and July (14 per cent) also showed targets not being met.

Alun Cairns said: "I am so angry that people in the Vale and across Wales fail to receive the treatment they need to battle cancer, within the time-frame that the Welsh Government has set. As we all know, getting treatment for cancer as soon as possible is critical. Long delays are frightening and only add to the strain, pressure and fear felt by patients and their families.

"Delays in treatment and the inaccessibility of cancer drugs for patients in the Vale is something that all too regularly crops up in my constituency surgeries."

Mr Davies, leader of the Welsh Conservatives, added: "The fact is that these vital targets have not been met in Wales since the First Minister took up his post, and until they are we will be nowhere near the first-class treatment we deserve. Local residents need to have confidence in the health system upon which they rely.

"Right now, record Welsh Government cuts to NHS funding in Wales are putting huge pressure on beleaguered staff who are trying their utmost to deliver quality treatment and care. They, too, deserve better."

Dr Graham Shortland, Medical Director at Cardiff and Vale University Health Board, said: "We are committed to meeting cancer waiting times and are working hard on plans to address our current waits. Capacity issues in two areas, coupled with a rise in demand, have had an adverse impact on our waiting times.

"We are working on plans to tackle these issues, with some additional capacity due to come on stream in the next few weeks.

"We would like to apologise to any patient who is currently waiting to be seen for any undue distress caused.

"While we recognise that this failure to meet target is not acceptable, it's important to note that the 62-day target relates to patients who may have cancer but who, as yet, have no formal diagnosis.

"The UHB complies fully with the 31-day cancer treatment target, which applies to patients who have been diagnosed with cancer."

• A Welsh Government spokesperson told The GEM: "The number of patients involved in these statistics are relatively small and the interventions often complex, meaning small changes can affect the overall picture greatly.

"The large majority of patients are still seen within the target time.

"We continue to work closely with all health boards to improve performance, concentrating on those patients waiting over 62 days.

"The Minister for Health and Social Services, Lesley Griffiths AM, has expressed to health board chairs her strong wish to see improvements, and has raised the issue with them again this week.

"The Minister expects to see improvements early in 2013."

FOUR NEW SIGNINGS FOR OIL 4 WALES...

INDEPENDENT oil distribution company Oil 4 Wales has added to its squad by signing up four of Wales' rugby stars as official ambassadors.

The oil brand for Wales has secured the support of Wales' current kicking coach Neil Jenkins, Wales international and Llanelli Scarlets hooker Ken Owens, and Wales international and Newport-Gwent Dragons flanker Dan Lydiate, as well as former international Dafydd Jones.

The new signings come as Oil 4 Wales's original ambassador, Shane Williams, takes time out from duties as he embarks on a season in Japan.

Colin Owens, managing director of Oil 4 Wales, said: "Shane has been a fantastic ambassador for our company over the past year and it is great to see him already doing so well over in Japan.

"We are a very proud Welsh company, so it is great for us to have members of the Welsh rugby team on board, as they share the same passion for Wales as we do."

Dan Lydiate said: "Oil 4 Wales is passionate about Wales and is truly committed to serving the communities of Wales. It is a great company to be involved in – friendly, family run and with the Welsh community at its heart.

"They have already built an impressive client base and I look forward to working with them going forward as they continue with their exciting expansion plans."

Oil 4 Wales is a family-run company, which was founded by entrepreneur Colin Owens, in 2011. The company, which supplies a range of fuel services to homes, businesses, commercial premises, agricultural and retail customers, has been well supported by those keen to see the success of a truly independent Welsh oil brand, and now supplies over 16,000 customers in Wales.

Helping those with eating disorders

Approximately 1.6 million people suffer from eating disorders in the UK.

Disorders like anorexia nervosa, bulimia nervosa and binge eating can be an outlet for emotions such as anger, anxiety, depression and low self-esteem, often caused by a general inability to cope, psychological trauma, bereavement or difficult relationships. They can develop as coping mechanisms.

You can read more about this at: www.afsfh.co.uk/membersaccess_press_releases.php.

Cardiff Hypnotherapy Solutions helps clients reduce anxiety, restoring perspective. Once under contro,l many of the troublesome symptoms can be alleviated, including unhelpful behaviours towards food.

Regaining control usually helps clients restore motivation, confidence and self-esteem and rediscover their healthy relationship with food.

EVEN IN AFRICA... Richard can't stop caring for his foster kids!

CAROLINE ALLEN, a mum of three, and a foster carer with Action for Children, loves fostering, even though she has enough reason to keep clear of a hectic household of children at the moment.

For Caroline's husband, Richard, is working abroad in Tanzania, East Africa – but despite this, he always makes time to speak with his family via the internet.

There is no stopping him and Caroline continuing to give vulnerable youngsters a home, wherever he may be based.

"It just feels right to open up your home to children," explains Caroline. "Even though Richard is away a lot of the time, I can cope because I get brilliant support from Action for Children."

Cost-efficient inheritance tax planning is our aim

FURTHER to previous articles concerning tax-efficient business protection, and the EU Gender directive 21/12/2012, which will re-shape the pricing of Life assurance of annuities, I have recently attended forums regarding the costs associated to inheritance tax planning.

Some institutions are charging hundreds of pounds per month when it can be arranged at a fraction of the cost. D.P.T. Financial Solutions can offer you this solution, if appropriate to your circumstances.

If your estate is above the nil rate band of £325,000, it could be liable to a 40 per cent tax charge on death.

Also, gifts via the potentially exempt transfer rules can be utilised in two years, rather than seven years in certain circumstances.

D.P.T. Financial Solutions specialises in all areas of financial services and is committed to achieving the most cost-effective solutions for clients or businesses.

Minister checks on benefits of new broadband service

Donal Whelan shows Stephen Crabb and Simon Mawyer how ultrafast internet is improving his home-based business in St Hilary.

ST HILARY found itself at the heart of the Welsh broadband debate last week when Wales Office Minister Stephen Crabb visited on a fact finding mission to see how Welsh businesses can take advantage of access to high-speed broadband.

Mr Crabb accompanied Simon Mawer, the managing director of Welsh broadband provider Konek-T, to the St Hilary home of Donal Whelan, one of the first people to take up their superfast broadband.

Mr Whelan runs his own music mastering business, Hafod Mastering, from his home in the village and relies on the internet for his work.

Mr Crabb said: "Improving Wales' communications infrastructure is vital to grow our economy and compete on a global scale.

"Having access to ultrafast broadband will let businesses expand and develop new markets, creating the jobs we need.

" It will also allow rural Welsh communities to access public services more quickly and efficiently online."

Mr Crabb also visited the Arqiva St Hilary Transmission Tower, where Konek-T's technology is based.

MAKE YOUR WILL, FOR PEACE OF MIND

A Will is often one of those things we all mean to 'sort out' but very often is left undone.

Nonetheless, it is a vital document to have in place – to give peace of mind; to ensure that the people we want to benefit at the time of death actually benefit; to bequeath a legacy to a friend or a charity.

Actually, making a Will is a very straightforward process.

Alternatively, you may have already made your Will, but are wondering if it is still appropriate for your requirements.

Perhaps you need to appoint guardians for your children, or you now have grandchildren, or you have recently benefited from a legacy yourself, which may increase the value of your estate.

You may simply feel that your current Will no longer fulfils your wishes.

For advice or assistance on any of these matters, please do not hesitate to contact Glamorgan Law LLP at The Pavilion, 60 Eastgate, Cowbridge on 01446 771742. This firm will be participating in the Will Aid scheme for the month of November.

Local charity steps in to tackle prostate disease with new laser equipment

A WELSH charity that began life in Cowbridge, has stepped forward once again to pay for a high-tech machine that can make a huge difference to men with prostate disease.

It was eight years ago that the GLAZE Charity Trust raised the money to buy a Green Light Laser machine for the Princess of Wales Hospital in Bridgend, and the charity has been supporting its upkeep and running costs ever since. More than 1,100 men have been treated with the laser technology and the hospital's urological department is now the leading training unit of its kind in UK.

GLAZE, which is an integral part of Prostate Cymru Charity Trust, said support from companies and donations from individuals had been crucial in providing the additional £106,000 required to ensure the continuance of the Green Light Laser Treatment.

The new Green light laser XPS system delivers laser energy to the prostate and removes prostate tissue that is causing obstruction.

Patients stay in hospital for about a day after treatment, as opposed to up to four days with a more standard procedure.

Prostate Cymru and Glaze founder and trustee, Ray Murray, said: "Prostate disease, both malignant and benign, is the most common form of disease diagnosed in Welsh men.

"Our charities want to ensure that we have the most modern and successful equipment available, as well as highly-trained surgeons.

"We are tremendously grateful for the support we have received from companies in Wales, and from people who have raised money on our behalf through sponsorships and other activities.

"Companies such as Rockwool, Tata Steel and GE Aviation, have been really supportive. We have held prostate disease awareness days on many firms' premises – and so our relationship is proving mutually beneficial."

Andy Thomas,, who is a senior urology consultant at the Princess of Wales Hospital, said: "I am truly thankful to GLAZE, Prostate Cymru and its supporters for facilitating the purchase of the new third Generation Green light laser system for the Princess of Wales Hospital.

"We have been using this laser in the recent European trial of Green light versus another established system.

"The increased power and speed of the new laser has proven to be a great advance over the one we used previously.

"The hospital offers the only NHS Green light laser in service in Wales. With the increasing cost pressures being borne by the NHS, it was likely that this service would have been lost, as funds may not have been found to purchase the new laser.

ABOVE (left to right): Ray Murray, Tim Vincent (senior technical consultant at Rockwool), and Andy Thomas.

"Thanks to GLAZE, this threat has been removed and Welsh men now still have the opportunity to undergo safe day case surgery to treat benign prostate conditions."

Mr Murray added, "Prostate Cymru is now seeking to raise funds for a Robotic Laparoscopic Surgical System.

"This kind of precise and minimally invasive surgery is widely available in Europe and North America, but not in Wales. There are nearly 40 robotic surgical machines in England, where this surgery is free on the NHS, but not a single one in Wales.

"So, if a man in Wales wishes to have robotic surgery, the chances are that he will have to pay privately for treatment in an English hospital, at a cost of up to £15,000.

"We are aiming to raise £1.7 million for the first machine in Wales by our 'Operation Robot' campaign.

"It's an ambitious target but we are planning some very big fund-raising initiatives.

"We need all the support we can get, so we'd be delighted to hear from anyone out there who can help us achieve this important objective."

Prepare your Home for Christmas

New Government scheme could warm your home in time for Christmas

ABOVE: Environment Minister, John Griffiths and Citizens Advice policy director, Teresa Perchard at the launch of Big Energy Savings Week

ONE thing any home-owner can do as Christmas approaches is check if money is being wasted on heating bills.

That's why it is a good idea to look at a new Welsh Assembly Government (WAG) scheme, that is making £13 million available for this very purpose.

The Environment Minister, John Griffiths said the money will be divided between two fuel poverty schemes, 'Nest' and 'Arbed', both of which target investment at those people most in need of help.

Speaking at the launch of Big Energy Savings Week at the Bridgend shopping outlet, McArthurGlen, he said: "Rising energy costs and the current economic conditions mean that too many people in Wales are becoming vulnerable to fuel poverty.

"The Welsh Government is committed taking action to tackle this issue, and that is why Nest, our fuel poverty scheme, targets investment at those people most at risk.

"Latest figures show that since April 2011, Nest has provided advice and support to more than 15,000 households to help them reduce their bills, and has funded energy-saving improvement in around 5,600 homes.

"These improvement packages really do make a difference, resulting in an average saving of £500 per household, so I am delighted that we have been able to allocate significant additional money to such a beneficial scheme.

"The £13m will be shared between Nest and our strategic energy scheme, Arbed, which in its first phase helped to make 6,000 homes in some of Wales poorest areas more energy efficient.

"We are now moving into Arbed's second phase and expect it to benefit a further 5,000 homes plus by 2016.

"Both Nest and Arbed make a genuine difference to the quality of life of Welsh householders, resulting in warmer homes and reduced fuel bills, and I am delighted that we are able to maintain our investment in tackling fuel poverty at this economically difficult time."

Finance Minister, Jane Hutt said: "The additional £10million to improve domestic energy will make a real difference, ensuring warmer homes and more manageable fuel bills for many of Wales' less well off householders."

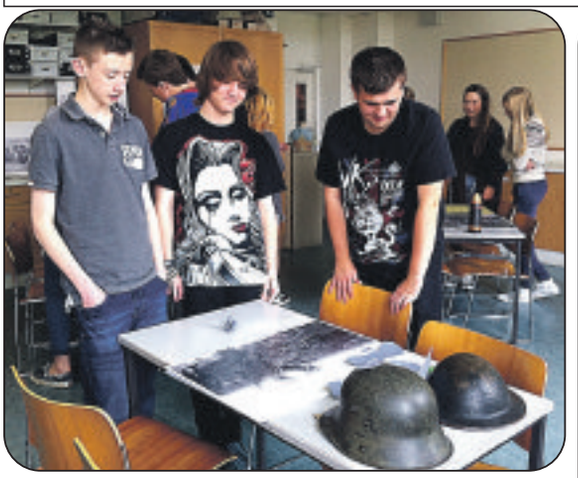
NEWS IN AND OUT OF THE CLASSROOM AT YSGOL GYFUN BRO MORGANNWG

PUPILS VISIT IMPERIAL WAR MUSEUM FOR HANDS-ON WORLD WAR ONE STUDY



ON October 5, the year-11 GCSE history class travelled to London to visit the Imperial War Museum.

During this term, pupils will be completing their controlled assessment on the First World War. They took part in a workshop on interpretations of the First World War led by the museum's experts.

This gave pupils the perfect opportunity to develop their research, interrogation and analysis skills through studying a number of original artifacts.

We also had the opportunity to visit galleries based on the theme 'war' at the museum.

Technology project exhibition

IT was a pleasure to see year-13 pupil Ioan Williams' AS design technology work being displayed as part of the WJEC Innovation Awards Exhibition. The exhibition was held in Cardiff and Llandudno earlier this month.

Eco news

IN October, a whole school electrical equipment recycling event was held at the school.

The event was under the supervision of the A-level business class. Pupils and staff filled a lorry with electrical equipment to recycle. This event takes us one step closer to becoming an Eco School this year.

Pupils publicised the day by colourful posters and pamphlets, presentations in the school assemblies and by speaking to staff and pupils. There was a positive response from many pupils, parents and staff and we are waiting to hear whether or not we have collected enough equipment to win a prize.

Head pupils

CONGRATULATIONS to Wil and Hannah Owen on being chosen as head boy and head girl for this academic year.

They will be assisted by Ioan Williams and Nia Spilsbury.

Open evening

A HIGHLY successful open evening was held on Wednesday, October 17, with more than 300 visitors to the school.

We were delighted to extend a warm welcome to parents, friends and prospective pupils and parents.

Visitors enjoyed a variety of activities including an impressive gymnastics display, exciting science experiments, a short drama production and a chance to sample some of the refreshments now available in the new school coffee shop.

A very special evening!

AN exciting opportunity to experience some of the learning activities on offer to year-7 at Ysgol Gyfun Bro Morgannwg was an integral part of a recent parents' evening.

Parents often contact the school to ask for constructive and practical advice on how to help their children with their work and in response to this, a series of interactive workshops were held to provide the necessary guidance for parents to help their children with their learning in secondary school.

It was a resounding success, with parents choosing between four workshops; 'Safe Surfing' (using the internet safely), 'Read On!' (encouraging your child to read), 'How to use the school diary?' and 'Assessments', reports and targets make sense – as well as discussing progress with form tutors. MT

AIR CADETS' MOVING VISIT TO WORLD WAR ONE GRAVES

SIX Air Cadets from 372 (Barry) Squadron, Adam Wood, Megan Palmer-Wood, Carl Chaplin, Charles Adams, Megan Hamblin and Geraint Franklin, recently travelled to Europe to pay homage to those who lost their lives fighting for their countries in the great wars.

The visit encompassed the war memorials and battlefields of Ypres Salient, in Belgium and those of the Somme, in France.

The cadets stayed as guests of the Belgium Army in Ypres and during their time were able to witness members of the local Fire Brigade performing the moving 'Last Post' ceremony at the Menin Gate.

As a sign of the greatest respect, Cadet Megan Hamblin laid a poppy wreath on behalf of the Squadron.

Cadet Adam Wood said: "We also went to Dunkirk to see where the evacuations took place. When you stand on the beach, it's amazing to think that in May 1940 all those people came in all sorts of boats, big and small to save the Servicemen and to try to get them home."

The cadets are fully aware of the consequences for war for every nation involved and they also made time to pay their respects at the Canadian War Memorial, Vimy Ridge, 38th Welsh Division Memorial, Mametz Wood and the memorial at Thiepval, which is dedicated to the 73,367 missing men of the Somme.

The cadets also paid their respects to the war dead at the cemeteries: in Tyne Cot, Passchendaele, and Langemarck.

Officer Commanding 372 Squadron, Flight Lieutenant Jason Horton, concluded: "It was a very busy few days with an enormous amount of travelling. However, the cadets all felt that it was a worthwhile and emotional experience.

"Seeing the battlefields and memorials at first hand brings history closer to our present and not just left in the past. The men who died for their counties will not be forgotten by these cadets.

"The visit would not have taken place without the support of the Big Lottery, which provided a grant towards transport costs."

Short film warns of the dangers of illegal fireworks

SOUTH Wales and Mid and West Fire and Rescue Service have launched their firework safety campaign with a 'Pay the Price' short film, illustrating the consequences of using illegal fireworks.

It supports their zero tolerance approach of the sale of illegal Fireworks.

They are working with their partners throughout Wales to promote a range of safety messages during the bonfire period this year.

The main objective is to stop members of the public from purchasing illegal fireworks and encourage everyone to attend official and organised bonfire and firework events for a safe and enjoyable evening.

The video is available to download from their websites, and also via the SWFRS Fire Crime Unit App. This is the first Fire and Rescue Service App in the UK and is completely free to download.

Last year, South Wales Fire and Rescue Service seized more than half a ton and in excess of £10,000 worth of illegal fireworks. It points out that these illegal fireworks are often sold on to the public at a lower price than the shops and supermarkets.

Not only are these fireworks extremely dangerous and capable of causing serious injury, they are often imported from abroad and do not conform to British Standards. They are also stored by unlicensed vendors and cost the taxpayer thousands of pounds each year.

Head of Fire Crime Unit at South Wales Fire and Rescue Service, Garry Davies, said: "Illegal fireworks can be highly dangerous as they have not been through the same safety checks as legal fireworks and do not conform to British Standards. The 'Pay the Price' film will show the devastating effects illegal fireworks can have on the user and those around them.

"Even when using legal fireworks at private parties, this can still be dangerous if the fireworks code is not followed properly.

"We urge members of the public to stay safe this fireworks night and attend an official organised display, which are a lot safer."

YOUNG AND OLD REVEL IN THE FUN OF COWBRIDGE FOOD & DRINK FESTIVAL

COWBRIDGE Food and Drink Festival continues to be a shining beacon for all that is good in Welsh cuisine.

One of the features of the day was that it is not just adult 'foodies' who are attracted to the event, lots of children are keen to see the huge variety of products on offer.

Photographer Glyn Evans captured people of all generations enjoying the friendly atmosphere, and the 'homage' to food and drink!

Thousands of people converge on Cowbridge for good food and drink!

THE Cowbridge Food & Drink Festival again showcased its growing popularity over the weekend, as thousands poured into the town to indulge in culinary delights.

Being new to The GEM, it was this writer's first sojourn to the festival, so I was excited to discover what was on offer.

The sights and smells adorning the tables and counters were a treasure trove, with the finest cuts of meat, golden pie crusts, wild and wacky cheeses, sharp and bitter ales, and sweet treats begging to be purchased.

The craft and fringe sights offered much to browse, including the fledgling Cowbridge Radio team providing live music throughout the two days.

The former attraction showcased plenty of hand-made arts and crafts for the most forward-thinking of Christmas shoppers, while those selling hats, scarves and gloves probably got quite a bit of trade from visitors who may have come unprepared for the sharp temperatures.

The weather was kinder on the Saturday, and as a result it was the busier of the two days.

The crowds wandered the attractions enjoying themselves with smiles on their faces and a happy atmosphere.

Sunday was greeted by dark clouds and misty skies, but the weather held off for a while, meaning early visitors managed to avoid the downpours.

The stall holders were again in fine spirits despite a long day on Saturday, and were quick to point out to visitors the delights to keep an eye out for.

One companion relied on a cup of mulled wine to keep her blood flowing, and was unprepared for the alcoholic strength of the brew!

Organisers were jubilant with how things went. Festival chairman John Davies said: "We were delighted with yet another fantastic event with a great atmosphere in the town throughout the weekend.

"The attendances have been increasing year on year – we had 14,000 people in 2011, and although not quite matching those record numbers this year everyone seemed to have a great weekend.

"The weather always plays a part in visitor numbers and Saturday's bright and sunny conditions saw a record amount of visitors through the gate.

"Sunday was a much wetter affair, but that left more room for seasoned festival-goers to browse the stalls.

"We had great feedback from visitors and exhibitors. It's been a difficult 12 months for many small producers who have been hit by problems with the weather and the economy, but a bumper festival weekend goes some way to helping them get back on track.

"I'd also like to extend thanks to all the volunteers who helped make this year's event such a success."

Vale AM Jane Hutt also popped in to see the fruits of the county's producers, and she commented: "It was great to hear the First Minister of Wales, Carwyn Jones praise the town of Cowbridge last week in the Senedd, for its thriving High Street, strengthened by events like the Cowbridge Food and Drink Festival."

A spokeswoman for the British Heart Foundation thanked The GEM for its help in fundraising over the weekend.

She said: "Thank you so much on behalf of British Heart Foundation for giving us the opportunity to be at The Cowbridge Food & Drink Festival at the weekend – we had a great time!

"We all worked very hard and are so very grateful. We took £750 on Saturday and have yet to count Sunday's money."

Crowds flock to Cowbridge as the food and drink festival becomes a 'must' destination

AS usual, there was something for everyone at the Cowbridge Festival of Food and Drink.

For cooks who were keen to improve their technique, there were demonstrations from professional chefs.

Elsewhere, there were wine tastings, entertainment for young and old, and enough mouth-watering food to set any diet back six weeks!

TV presenter Frances Donovan introduced the chefs who were demonstrating their skills to appreciative audiences.

Cowbridge's gourmet festival gives visitors a taste of the best that Wales has to offer!

COWBRIDGE is getting its breath back after another hectic weekend as, once again, it became the centre of the culinary world in Wales.

One look at the crowd (right) enjoying the entertainment in the champagne marquee shows what an enjoyable event it was – whether your taste was for gourmet food, real ale, or fine wine.

With more areas of the town involved than ever before, it just keeps getting better and better.!

THE VALE FUNERAL SERVICE
Providing the local community with the caring touch

Respected local funeral director starts new service on Court Road

Lyndsay Ellis at his new base, 181 Court Road in Barry.

LYNDSAY ELLIS, the respected local funeral director, is part of a new venture which has been launched in the Barry community.

Lyndsay (40) who began in the business more than 20 years ago, has started Lyndsay Ellis @ The Vale Funeral Service, based at 181 Court Road.

He explained: "It is a rare privilege to serve people as a funeral director, standing in at a sensitive time for a bereaved family, knowing that high standards of service are required to help people at the most difficult period in their lives.

"When people need help, I am available to go through the options available for them. My aim is to give a loved-one the send-off their family knows they deserve.

"People want honesty and guidance – it is not all about targets and budgets.

"We stay with our families every step of the way.

"Our service is 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 52 weeks of the year, including Bank Holidays and Christmas Day.

"There is always a member of staff available to talk to, not an answering machine, or call centre."

Lyndsay's parent company is Pidgeons of Cardiff, and he is delighted to have been able to incorporate the name W Spickett & Son – the oldest family funeral directors in the town, dating back to 1837 – in the new business.

Lyndsay, a family man married to Nicola, and with two daughters Nikita and Georgina, first started at a funeral directors in Caerphilly, before working in Cardiff and then moving to Barry.

Over the years, he has become a well known member of the community, and began the Barry memorial service for bereaved families two years ago. The ethos behind the event is encourage people to carry out an act of remembrance for a loved one.

There are no restrictions on who can attend – all are welcome. Last year 300 people attended.

THE Players, from right to left: Ian Phillips, Catrin Jones, Simon Carter, Gill Davies, Howard Turnbull, Hazel Hughes, David Hughes, Karen Bolt (accompanist) and Sylvia Crabbe.

Music & Monologues-2 takes church organ target over £60,000...

THE Gill Davies Players recently performed at All Saints' Church, Barry, in aid of The All Saints' Organ Appeal – in a bid to help raise the £70,000 needed for crucial organ repairs.

The players included Gill Davies, who has a long association with All Saints Church and who personally sold over 180 tickets for the event, Howard Turnbull, David Hughes, Simon Carter (violinist), Hazel Hughes, Ian Phillips and Catrin Jones who regularly perform at local concerts to raise money for different charities.

They were all "delighted" to support Gill and the organ appeal once again this year.

David Hughes was again the compere for the evening and introduced the programme, which took the form of six decades of Queen Elizabeth's reign and included historical facts and figures of each decade, with additional information behind the musical pieces.

The players were accompanied by Karen Bolt and part one opened with all the players performing 'Hey Old Friends' by Stephen Sondheim, followed by an introduction and the years 1952-1962. Catrin Jones performed 'Someone to Watch Over Me' followed by Ian Phillips in the pulpit performing The Sermon in great style.

This was followed by the years 1962-1972 with Simon Carter giving a note perfect performance on the violin of 'A Fifth of Beethoven'.

Howard Turnbull went into full swing with 'When Britain Really Ruled the Waves'. 'My Favourite Things' was sung by Hazel Hughes revisiting her role as Maria Von Trappe, which she has performed at the New Theatre Cardiff in the past. Then it was the turn of the gentlemen performing together 'The Stately Homes of England'.

The years 1972 -1982 concluded with a monologue by Gill Davies entitled 'All Saints' Fetes & Fundraising.

Part two opened with Mrs Worthington which included Sylvia Crabbe in a cameo role. The compere then gave a tribute to Sir Noel Coward and the years 1982-1992.

Ian Phillips performed 'Someday I'll Find You', followed by the years 1992-2002 with interesting facts and information.

Then it was the turn of all the gentlemen once again performing 'Mad Dogs and Englishmen'. 'Mad About the Boy' was another solo for Catrin Jones and this was followed by an additional monologue in role as the Queen from Gill Davies entitled 'One's Glad One's Not Young Anymore.

Simon Carter demonstrated that he could sing just as well as he could play the violin, by singing 'London Pride'. Howard Turnbull took the audience up to the years 2002-2012 with 'I Went to a Marvellous Party!'. Finally, the whole company sang 'Where are the Songs we Sung?' to close the performance.

Canon Adrian Berry thanked Gill and the Players, revealing that this performance was Gill's last on stage and presented her with a bouquet.

A DVD of the evening's performance will be available from Gill Davies (01446) 409227.

The event raised nearly £2,000 taking the grand total for the appeal at the time of going to press to more than £60,000.

Green Haze to rock Barry

GREEN HAZE, an energetic tribute to one of the best punk rock 'n' roll bands the world has seen, Green Day, will be live at The Witchill Hotel, 110 Barry Road, Barry on November 9 from 7.30pm-11.30pm.

Their live shows are high octane events where the band goes to every length to capture the raw power and dynamics of Green Day's music, and bring it to life on stage. SM

BARRY AT WAR GROUP open day

BARRY at War Group will be holding an open day this Sunday (November 4) to raise funds to establish the new 'Glamorgan Wartime Heritage Centre' at the Barry Tourist Railway Station, Barry Island.

Group chairman Ade Pitman said: "Our first open day aims to be a fun and educational event for all the family. We're not yet as impressive as the Imperial War Museum, but every facility has to start somewhere.

"We hope to show people what we're working towards, as people still don't seem to believe that Barry finally has its first museum. We're also hoping that visitors will help with suggestions and ideas as to how the centre can best support local associations and schools."

The open day will feature a World War Two military Jeep that visitors can sit in, and the RC Tank Regiment will also be displaying their radio-controlled tanks.

Militaria and reproduction vintage items will be on sale at the 'military bazaar' on the covered station platform, and tables are available for a small fee.

Historians will display equipment used by American troops stationed in the area during the 1940s, and the Glamorgan Home Guard, as featured on the BBC's 'Coal House' programme will be representing the local Home Guard.

"We will also have a display of the 'Auxiliaries', who would have been the nucleus of British resistance had the Nazis invaded Britain. Keen to ensure that the 'Glamorgan Wartime Heritage Centre' does not simply become a wartime theme park, our open day also gives visitors the opportunity to see some of the projects that we are currently researching and to attend illustrated talks, Ade Pitman explained.

"Topics include the Essex Yeomanry 1914-1918, Women's war at the Front 1914-1918, HMS Edinburgh, and the American GIs in south Wales.

"Veteran WAAF Officer, Eileen Younghusband, who served from 1940 to the end of the Second World War, will be describing her fascinating work in the 'Filter Room' and its role in the 'Dowding System'. She will also be signing her book, One Woman's War, which will be on sale at a special price.

"We'd also very much like to meet people interested in helping Barry at War to create the 'Glamorgan Wartime Heritage Centre', or who may be carrying out similar research to ourselves."

Money raised at the 'Glamorgan Wartime Heritage Centre' open day will go towards establishing the centre and purchasing the equipment needed to record and present the area's wartime heritage.

The open day will run from 10am until 4pm, and admission is free.

Contact Ade Pitman on 07930 874161, or see the Barry at War website at www.barryatwar.info for more information.

Barry at War Group are also holding a 'Remembrance Exhibition' in Barry Library until November 17.

Bond Ball for charity

TO celebrate the 50th birthday of James Bond and the release of the latest film Skyfall, Miskin Manor Hotel is hosting a Bond-themed black tie ball on Saturday, November 10, to raise money for the British Heart Foundation Cymru's 'Mending Broken Hearts' appeal, from 7pm.

Hosts for the evening will be BBC Wales presenters Lucy Owen and Rhodri Owen.

Sharon Owen, fundraising manager for British Heart Foundation Cardiff and south-east Wales, said: "By supporting events such as The 007 Ball for our Mending Broken Hearts appeal, you'll be helping to fund a groundbreaking research programme that could end the suffering caused by severe heart failure, forever.

"Help us raise the funds we need to continue this amazing research at this critical stage.

"We are grateful to The Miskin Manor Hotel for holding this event."

Skyfall-s... but earth doesn't move for this reviewer!

IT has been six years since Daniel Craig shook off the 'blonde Bond' tags and made the character of 007 seem fresh and vital again in Casino Royale, and four years since the underwhelming follow-up, Quantum of Solace, stripped away some of the momentum.

by GARETH JAMIESON

Follow Screen Talk on Twitter - @GEMScreenTalk

In the meantime, there have been false starts caused by studio instability, but James Bond finally returns, in his 50th anniversary year no less, in Skyfall.

This time round Bond, after being presumed killed in action, returns to help M (Judi Dench) when she loses vital information about undercover agents; information that a shadowy figure from her past, Raoul Silva (Javier Bardem), is intent on using to bring M, and the world, to their knees...

When James Bond was rebooted in 2006 with Casino Royale, it seemed to give the character a new lease of life. Harder-hitting, colder and less concerned with flashy, OTT histrionics, the Daniel Craig era landed with a bang, one that lessened slightly with Quantum of Solace two years later.

So with Skyfall there was much for Craig, and director Sam Mendes, to prove – was Casino Royale the template for the future or simply an aberration, albeit one that was a huge success.

What they have proved is that cinema is a dull place without the adventures of James Bond, but Skyfall isn't quite the riposte needed, particularly in the franchise's 50th year, the film feels underwhelming and slightly sluggish where it should be sprightly and full of life.

Three films in and Daniel Craig looks the part of 007 without a doubt, melding Fleming's written Bond to his stoic personality. Craig seems relaxed and his performance is charming, but also hints at the chinks in the character's armour, looking inward far more than any other Bond has done.

Bond's journey here is more personal than professional and Craig handles the quieter moments solidly without over-extending himself.

The main acting plaudits here go to Javier Bardem who delivers an incredible villain, and Judi Dench who, on her seventh Bond outing, finally gets something juicy to get her teeth stuck into.

Bardem can do chilling villainy with ease, as No Country For Old Men attested, but add in flamboyance, a malevolence that simmers rather than boils, and seemingly Christopher Walken's hair from A View To A Kill, and you have a Bond villain worthy of that name.

Outlandish but rooted in reality, Bardem is the best adversary 007 has faced in recent memory, and the actor delivers an outstanding turn.

Dench, meanwhile, gets the chance to shine, the film focussing on her past misdemeanors and her relationship with Bond, and the actress offers a wonderful turn that strikes an emotional note amidst the bombast.

There are rich pickings among the support cast – Ben Whishaw, Naomie Harris and Ralph Fiennes all marking their first outings in the franchise with satisfying turns, with Albert Finney making a pleasing appearance in the final act.

While Sam Mendes is steeped in Bond lore, his first outing in the director's chair is good, but not great.

Certainly, he has a handle on the action sequences, with some looking absolutely incredible, particularly a Shanghai-set mission.

His strength really lies in dealing with actors, and given the dramatic heft required here he proves a canny choice, marshalling the story and the performances well.

The real disappointment comes from the screenplay, which fails to balance the intriguing strand of Bond being a man out of time and his relationship with M with the common, and episodic, globe-trotting adventures that feel less interesting than the sub plots.

It would a brave move indeed to concentrate solely on the characters and their motivations without throwing in the action that is par for the course for this franchise, but one that would have been rather more fulfilling.

Not quite the 50th birthday present you would have wanted, Skyfall isn't an awful film, and ticks the boxes that every Bond film should tick; but with the people involved, you would have expected something a bit more invigorating than a reheating of the franchise's best moments with some (admittedly top level) drama thrown into the mix.

VERDICT – Bond is back, but he has been better. Skyfall isn't, however, a bad return for the super spy, just underwhelming. With very strong turns from Javier Bardem and Judi Dench, and Daniel Craig oozing the essence of 007, the film doesn't fall short on acting quality, but a leaden plot enlivened by far more interesting and intriguing subplots, means that 007's licence to thrill is not in full effect here. Enjoyable.

GEM papergirl makes the next round of national competition

GEM delivery girl Carrianne Rogers was among three acts from Barry and one from Bridgend who made it through to the next stage of the Open Mic UK national talent competition – placing them two steps away from performing at London's O2 Arena.

Carrianne Rogers and her trophy for best original song at the Open Mic singing competition. The Judges reviews were obtained from the Open Mic Facebook page.

The regional final took place on Saturday October 20 in the Coal Exchange in Cardiff. With 25 acts in the 17-22-year-old category the competition was tough, but 17-year-old Carrianne came sailing through it.

The event was well-attended, with Carrianne's mum Kay Rogers commenting: "There were people struggling to get a seat as the night progressed."

Not only did she secure a place in the Area Final, taking place in Reading's Sub89 club on Sunday, December 2, but she also scooped the prize for the best original song for her tune 'Ghosts', which she performed on the night.

Carrianne was in a state of shock to win the prize but totally thrilled about it, with judges commenting:

"Love this girl's demeanour, the original song is great. Lovely tone and made the cover her own. Nice vocal and narrative in the song. Liked the blend in the voice."

Barry's Luke Brown also made it through to the next stage.

Judges said of Luke: "Good start, delivering the vocal with punch but guitar sounded out of tune. Great tone to his vocal, really rich and full. Try to get a little more core sound into the voice to give the song balance."

Barry Comprehensive School pupils, and friends of Carrianne's, 'Back to November' are also through to the Area Finals.

Judges commented: "Vocally very good, but expression of the guitar players is of solid poker players and not very engaging. Show you're enjoying it!

"Perhaps the vocalists should line up in the middle to be the focal vision of the act."

Bridgend-based act Davie are also through to the next round in Reading.

With a good following for each act they are considering hiring some minibuses for the Area Final.

Carrianne will also be making an appearance with a few of her own songs at an open day for a new playgroup in Barry – Phillybears – on Saturday, November 24 at the Scout Hall on Everard Street from 11am.

There will be free tea, coffee, squash and home-made cakes available. Tickets will be available at this event for the Area Finals, priced at £9.

They can also be purchased by emailing: krogers17@talktalk.net, or by messaging either me or Carrianne Rogers through Facebook. You can check out the video Carrianne has made for the song 'Ghosts' via YouTube.

Rotarians taken into the heart of Moulin Rouge

Pictured are Rotary president Andrew Lane, Rachel Williams, and Rotarian Malcolm Wheeler.

COWBRIDGE Rotary Club had a wonderful evening's entertainment on October 29 from Rachel Williams – formerly one of the legendary Bluebell Girls.

As a young girl, Rachel had the confidence to walk into the Paris Lido and ask if they were recruiting for the girls. They were – and she got a job on the spot!

She told a fascinated audience just what it was like to work as one of these famous dancers; the heavy headdresses, the pancake make-up, the long hours of practice, and all those dances – precisely choreographed involving feathers, sequins, snakes, camels, waterfalls, laser lights and very high heels.

She danced, she sang and worked long hours – an early night was a 3.30am finish.

But she was living the dream, and became principal dancer at the rival Moulin Rouge before returning to London and working in the West End production of 'Cats'.

She danced and sang her way through an hour of magical insights of life lived in the spotlight in front of a group of spellbound diners.

This was a soiree of Parisian chic with long Welsh legs that will be remembered for a long time to come. AB

Crossway Church playgroup may have photos of interest!

DURING the period 1974-96, many photographs were taken of the children at Crossway Church playgroup taking part in various activities at the end of the summer term, when were they leaving us to go to "big school".

We have some albums as a record of this, and we also have many surplus photographs, which we would love to give to parents rather than dispose of them.

We invite parents to call into Crossway Church Hall on Wednesday, November 7 between 2pm-3.30pm, where they can browse through spare photographs and albums, and have a cup of tea and a chat!

Micro chip your dog for free

DOG owners are being urged to take advantage of a special offer from Dogs Trust and Cardiff Dogs Home to get their dog microchipped for free at Cardiff Dogs Home on Penarth Road today (November 1) between 3pm and 7pm and tomorrow (November 2) 11am and 3.30pm.

Dogs Trust, which has a rehoming centre in Bridgend has teamed up with Cardiff Dogs Home to help as many dogs as possible, said spokeswoman Sian Edwards.

"We would like to urge dog owners to take advantage of this limited microchipping offer. We have seen an increase in the number of stray dogs in Wales this year, from 9,482 in 2011 to 10,230 in 2012 which shows the problem of stray dogs in the country is as prevalent as ever.

"If your dog does get lost, a microchip can enable you to be traced and reunited with it.

"While at Dogs Trust we never put a healthy dog to sleep, our rehoming centres are very stretched, so we constantly need to reach out to dog owners to help them get their dogs microchipped and neutered to help prevent the scores of stray and unwanted dogs we take in every year."

Cardiff Dogs Home is at Westpoint Industrial Estate, Penarth Road, Cardiff CF11 8JQ.

MP achieves personal best in Cardiff Half Marathon and two Vale charities benefit

Alun Cairns MP with fellow runners from the Vale in the Cardiff Half Marathon and children who took part in the Fun Run.

MAKING his race debut in the field of more than 15,000 runners in the Cardiff Half Marathon was Vale MP Alun Cairns.

He made it home in 1 hour and 40 minutes to raise money for two charities based in the Vale – Atal y Fro (formerly known as Women's Aid) and MIND in the Vale.

Among others from the Vale, he met children from Ysgol Iolo Morganwg in Cowbridge who took part in the family fun run.

The MP reported: "I really enjoyed running through the edge of the Vale in such great conditions and running along the barrage from Penarth to Cardiff was terrific in the sunshine!

"There were many runners from the Vale taking part in the event, which I think is a clear sign that there could be significant interest in staging a similar event in Barry, I'm certainly keen to push for such an event here in the Vale.

"I was particularly delighted to break my personal best, with a time of 1 hour 40 mins and 36 seconds!

"Following on from my fundraising activities with the London marathon earlier this year, the two charities I continued to support on this run were Atal y Fro and Mind in the Vale."

Join Jingle Bell Jog!

BRITISH Heart Foundation Cymru has teamed up with the Vale Council to organise the Vale's first Jingle Bell Jog, to help save lives in the area.

This family festive fancy dress event is open to everyone and you can either run, jog, walk or even jingle, for all ages and abilities around Barry Promenade on Sunday, December 16.

Meet outside the Dolphin pub. Registration either before the event or on the day at 10am, with a warm-up at 10.45am and the jog starts at 11am.

To book online, contact bhf.org.uk/events. For more information, contact Sharon Owen on 02920 382408.

'Look it up on 'Facebook' – local voters are advised!

VALE residents who wish to find out more about the forthcoming election for a South Wales Police and Crime Commissioner on Thursday, November 15, are being directed to Facebook and Twitter.

A spokeswoman for the Vale Council said: "A Police and Crime Commissioner' will replace the South Wales Police Authority on November 22, and will be responsible for holding the chief constable and police force to account on the public's behalf and overseeing how crime is tackled in their area. (Commissioners) will also aim to make sure the police are providing a good service.

"The role of the Commissioner includes meeting the public regularly to listen to their views on policing, producing a police and crime plan setting out local policing priorities, deciding how the budget will be spent, and appointing chief constables and dismissing them if needed."

The South Wales Police and Crime Commissioner will cover Bridgend, Cardiff, Merthyr, Neath Port Talbot, Rhondda Cynon Taf, Swansea and the Vale of Glamorgan.

From Pontyclun to Pen Cerrig Calch

ON a doubtful autumn morning, the Vale Ramblers met at Pontyclun public car park for a walk in the Black Mountains.

Off we set up towards Crickhowell, wondering what the weather would bring.

Going up north, we could see mist in the distance, and hoped that the sun would break through when we got to the start – which it did.

At the starting point, we met up with some members of the Taff Ely group, and set off on our walk.

It was obvious that the walk was going to be a wet and muddy one, as from 'the off' we were confronted with muddy lanes and muddy fields.

As we made our way to the summit of Pen Cerrig Calch, the path ran out, so we had to make our way up the hill, through bracken and heather.

This was hard going, especially on the lungs and leg muscles, but it was well worth the puffing and panting, as the views were spectacular; the peak of the Skirrid majestically making itself known through the low cloud, and other hills in the distance.

Making our way along the ridge, there was a cold wind, but the views were magnificent – this is obviously a popular route, as we met quite a number of other walkers.

Seeing the views towards Talygarth and Llangorse, Pen y Fan in the distance bathed in autumn sunshine, we felt very fortunate and this combined, with the autumn colours, made a perfect day.

Coming down from the mountain was just as hard work as going up; there was no definitive path, so we had to make our way down through the lovely copper ferns and the heather.

Walking back along the low muddy track to the start, we were able to look across and see where we had climbed that morning, marvelling that we had completed the walk. Our thanks to Del Rees for leading the walk.

Thank You

"THANK YOU"

Edna Hardie would like to thank her family and friends for all the lovely presents and cards she received for her 85th birthday, and for making it such a 'special' day.

Special thanks to Mrs & Mrs Christopher and staff of West House Hotel for the splendid repast and to Andrew for my special dessert.

Thank you one and all, Edna.

Imps celebrate 40th anniversary in style

CADOXTON IMPS AFC have this year been celebrating the magnificent milestone of 40 years since the club was first founded by Graham Harris back in 1972 with a team of 10-year-olds in the youth section of the old Barry & District League.

The team initially started under the name of Buttrills Rovers but Cadoxton Conservative Club provided the finance for the first shirts and as the boys were all little devils, the name of the club was born.

To celebrate this great achievement, the club have been organising a series of events throughout the year. The club recently held a successful 40th anniversary black tie ball at the Masonic Hall, Broad Street, Barry almost to the day 40 years ago when the 10-year-olds played their first competitive match.

More than 100 guests enjoyed a three-course dinner and wine with local band Taboo providing the live music entertainment and the disco. Thanks to Sid and the boys from Taboo for stepping in at short notice as the original band booked were unable to attend.

The club also raised funds on the night from a prize raffle and an auction so thanks are due to Lyndon Smith of LDS Motor Factors, Huw Thomas of McDonald's Restaurant (Barry) and Leigh Cogbill (under-16 manager) for provision of the main prizes. Thanks to everyone else who donated raffle prizes and thanks also to Mandy and Phil and their staff at the Masonic Hall.

Above are photographs from the evening featuring founder Graham Harris, current president Len Jones, current vice chairman Steve Gibbs, current chairman Martin Pursall, current secretary Gary Spierling and current welfare officer Alan Smith.

The second photograph is of some of that very first team from 1972 (all now looking considerably older!).

The WAGs are conspicuous by their absence from the photographs and would have made far prettier pictures in their beautiful ball gowns!

The club are updating their Cadoxton Imps History Book 1972/73 to 2007/08 as part of their 40th anniversary celebrations, so if you have any photographs that are not in the current edition of the history book then please contact the club to have them incorporated in the new and updated edition.

MARTIN PURSALL, CHAIRMAN

ABOVE: Some of the first players to represent Cadoxton Imps (or Buttrills Rovers as they were called at that time) looking somewhat older than they did that day 40 years ago!

Talent show

VALE'S GOT TALENT 2012 is being hosted at Gordon Bennetts, Broad Street, Barry with heats being held on November 4, 11, 18 and 25.

The semi-finals are on December 2 and 9, with the grand final on December 16: first prize – £500; second prize – £150; third prize – £50.

Any age welcome to enter! Ty Hafan will also be fundraising on the night.

To register, email: info@vrentertainment.co.uk.

Deadline

THE final date for entry to the Music in the Vale competition for young singers and instrumentalists is Monday, November 5.

All information and entry forms on the website: www.musicinthevale.org.uk.

The competition is on November 24 and 25 at Cowbridge Comprehensive School, Aberthin Road, with free concerts each evening to decide the winners in each category.

Bees get help from Wales star Jamie!

BARRY Bees under-10s were joined by Welsh international Jamie Roberts for a training session on an extremely wet and cold Thursday night – but nothing could dampen the boy's enthusiasm or excitement!

The Welsh and Lions centre joined in with the boys as they went through their normal training drills, and then took part in a full-blooded match, giving the awestruck boys the benefit of his international experience.

The boys were keen to show off their skills, and despite the disparity in size did not shirk when it came to trying to stop the hard-running Welsh back.

Jamie was truly inspirational and despite the awful conditions his passion and commitment were contagious and the boys (as well as the mums!) were captivated.

After the training, and once everyone had thawed out, he held a question and answer session in the clubhouse; and yes the important question about his future with the Blues was asked, but he was understandably non-committal.

This was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity arranged through the auspices of Admiral and Matt Lloyd, who is one of the Barry Bees parents.

Jamie gave the boys an excellent insight into the life of a professional and international rugby player; but he continually stressed that the most important thing was that the boys should enjoy their rugby and hopefully this is the key lesson that they will take away from what was a memorable evening.

For all budding Jamie Roberts', and for that matter Adam Jones', Barry Bees under-10s (year-5s) are always looking for new players.

We are a highly successful and friendly mixed ability team, and any potential new recruits should contact John Bale on 07870 419691.

Rhoose lose out in 'battle of the Rovers'

RHOOSE Rovers FC were undone in gusty conditions at Pencoedtre as they lost 6-3 against a superb Barry Rovers team; Drew Barrett starred with two goals for Rhoose.

Manager Dave Walsh was left angered by his team's first half performance with three goals being conceded in the first 20 minutes after some slick football being played by the home team.

The main threats of Rowe, Barrett and Vinson failed to materialise with Barry showing some impressive defensive displays.

Ten minutes before the interval saw the home side extend their lead even further with a 'goal of the month' contender; the ball finding the top corner of the net from 30 yards out.

Rhoose managed to pull a goal back after a free-kick, taken by Powell, found Barrett who scrambled the ball over the line a few minutes before half-time.

After being dealt the 'hair-dryer treatment' by the manager, Rhoose Rovers looked a completely different team and started to show glimpses of potential.

While taking advantage of the blustery winds, the visitors began creating chances.

However, switching to a more attacking formation left spaces in defence and despite pulling two goals back; the first coming from the head of Walsh after a corner from Byrne and the second coming from Barrett after another corner from Baker, Barry scored two of their own to secure victory.

Team: Jake Birkenhead, Darren Price, Joe Walsh, Lee Dixon, Dale Trickett, Aidan Byrne, Sion Tucker, Chris Vinson, Jonny Powell, Josh Rowe, Drew Barrett. Substitutes: Ashley Baker (60'), Liam Byrne (65'), Luke Solomon (75').

AB

Rhoose under-14s' five-star performance

RHOOSE under-14s started the game against Cowbridge with a high tempo and were soon on the attack with Daniel Cope making a darting run down the wing to set up Josh Brown, whose first-time effort was well saved by the Cowbridge keeper.

Jay Coles found himself in space outside the box and his superb strike found the top corner to give Rhoose the lead.

Cowbridge created a number of chances, but Dylan White and Ryan Hughes were solid in defence, making several last-ditch tackles.

Rhoose increased their lead when Cameron Leach dribbled his way through a number of challenges before curling the ball around the oncoming keeper.

In the second half, Matt Cottington used his blistering pace to get in behind the Cowbridge defence and scored with a powerful strike. Cowbridge pegged one back with a well-worked move from a free-kick.

Lee Bartlett was unlucky when his volley was blocked on the line. Edward Thomas had a terrific game in defence with great positional play to reduce the number of Cowbridge attacks.

Michael Wilson played an intricate through ball into the path of Patrick O'Carroll, whose long range effort was brilliantly saved by the Cowbridge keeper, but Cameron Leach followed in and managed to steer the ball home for his hat-trick.

Harry Morgan-Grant was called into action on several times in the Rhoose goal and tipped several strikes around the post. Cowbridge ended the game with another well-deserved goal to make the final score 5-2.

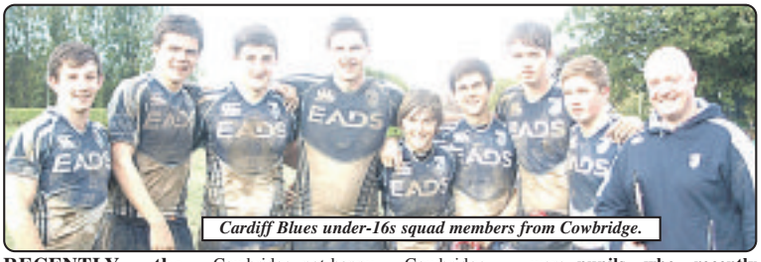
COWBRIDGE COMPREHENSIVE SCHOOL SPORTS ROUND-UP

Cup progress for year-7 footballers



Cardiff Blues under-16s squad members from Cowbridge.

RECENTLY, the year-7 football team played St Teilos in the second round of the Welsh Schools Cup.

After their convincing win against Llantwit in the previous round confidence was high, and Cowbridge were looking to put in another good performance.

At the start of the game, it was evident that this fixture was going to be a lot more difficult. St Teilos had a number of Newport County players, and were showing their comfort on the ball. Cowbridge took no notice of this, and Logan Roach led the attack.

The Cowbridge midfield were controlling the game, commanding the middle of the park, making sure that the majority of the possession stayed on their side.

Logan picked up the ball around the half-way line, and with some excellent dribbling skills, made his way into the St Teilos box. He pushed the ball to his weaker side, and smashed the ball with his right foot.

It flew into the bottom corner, and Cowbridge had opened the scoring inside five minutes.

St Teilos were playing some great football themselves, supplying effective long balls over and through the defence, only for Harri Hartmann to bravely dive at the strikers' feet to steal the ball away from them.

The second goal was again scored by Logan Roach. Superb interplay between Edward Lewis, Alex Brooks and Cameron Gauci set the ball free on the left wing.

Cameron galloped down the flank and whipped in an excellent cross, which Logan dismissed into the back of the net with a high, looping header. The score was now 2-0 and Cowbridge were looking good for the win.

Right at the end of the half, St Teilos put in another great ball over the defence. With Cowbridge convinced offside was going to be called, they switched off. St Teilos capitalised on this and slotted the ball towards goal and, despite Jack Dixon's best effort, he could not backtrack and keep the ball out.

Cowbridge, not happy conceding a goal so late on in the half, instantly went back into attack mode. The ball was crossed into the box by George Cuddiyh, and it was partially cleared by the defence.

The ball bounced on the edge of the box, in front of Ben Jones, who hit the ball on the half volley. The ball flew into the top corner for an outstanding goal which is front runner for goal of the season.

At half-time the score was 3-1 and Cowbridge started the second half in the same manner. Barney L-Cryer, Michael Bosley, Lewis Hawke, Mitchell Stimson-Jagger, and Jack Dixon were keeping the St Teilos attack at bay, while Cameron, Alex, Edward, Logan and George were terrorising the defence, with Ben causing havoc.

Cowbridge were unlucky not to score three or four goals in the first 15 minutes, with the ball always going agonisingly close. Cowbridge were then awarded a penalty, which was excellently saved by the 'keeper.

St Teilos then came back again with a goal and it made for a tense ending to the game.

Cowbridge stayed strong, and kept St Teilos out. The game was won, and what a great game.

Well done year-7, you played some excellent football and it is brilliant to see the team taking shape. Players of the match: Logan Roach and Alex Brooks-Bent.

RUGBY

THE photograph (above) shows some of the year-11 Cowbridge Comprehensive School pupils who recently competed for the Cardiff Blues under-16 squad.

The team won by 50 points against North Wales. Cowbridge has the biggest number of representatives in the squad of any school in Cardiff and the Vale, and this season also represents the highest number of pupils that Cowbridge has ever had involved in this squad.

Squad members include: Adam Dix, Dan Holder, Harry Dowell Bennett, Joe Gaughan, Aaron Bowman, Tom Higgins, Harry Goodfellow, Alex Guard, Nicky Griffiths and Josh Thomas.

The school also have two players involved in the Cardiff Blues under-16 development squad: Matt Lock and Jack Whitaker.

Summer competition a hit with Barry skittlers

LEFT to RIGHT: Alex Campbell, club chairman and tournament organiser, Rose Dawe, Simon Barnsley, captain of Barney's Bombers, Andrew Hillard. Steff Germon, captain of the Tynewydd Lads, was not available.

THE Barry Dock Liberal Club recently held it's annual skittle competition, which was played throughout the summer months and held on a league basis.

The prizes were given out by Alex Campbell, club chairman and tournament organiser on Saturday October 27, before the commencement of the evening entertainment.

The highest men's score was 36 by Andrew Hillard of the Tynewydd Lads. The highest ladies' score was 33 by Rose Dawe of View the Dragon. Both players received £100 for their respective highest scores.

The tournament has been running since 2006 and has been growing in popularity each year and it is hoped that in 2013 many more teams will enter.

The club would like to express their thanks to all of the teams that entered, the competition was played with a friendly spirit throughout and all of the teams thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

A special mention must be made for the White Witches, who had a 100 per cent losing record. They enjoyed themselves immensely, their motto being: 'It's not the winning, but the taking part that counts'.

Final standings: First – Tynewydd Lads, 39 points; second – Barney's Bombers, 33 points; third – Exiles, 33 points; fourth – Crazies, 28 points; fifth – Keith's Girls, 24 points; sixth – 49'ers, 24 points; seventh – Royalists, 22 points; eighth – Smurfs, 22 points; ninth – Alternatives, 21 points; 10th – Commanchies, 21 points; 11th – Don't Get Very Fars, 15 points; 12th – View the Dragon, 12 points; 13th – Bazzer's Best, 10 points; 14th – Libby's Girls, nine points; 15th – White Witches, 0 points.

All geared up for cold weather!

LYNDSAY at The Vale Funeral Service is "proud" to have provided a Pan disability football club based in the Vale with outdoor wet weather jackets.

Lyndsay said: "I have always supported causes in the community since becoming an established funeral director in Barry and the Vale. My commitment will continue and I am pleased that I could do this."

Pan disability team members have differing impairments but play together, regardless of their limitations.

With the donation of wet weather training jackets, the team will be able to train outside during the colder weather on organised special training days.

The club has thanked Lyndsay and The Vale Funeral Service for their support. LE

Spooky goings-on for young Dinas Powys footballers

A BIG thank you goes to all those who attended the annual Dinas Powys mini FC Hallowe'en party.

Each year, the attendances have grown, and Liz, the entertainer, kept the children busy all night. Thanks also go to the parents from Dinas Wolves, who spent all afternoon getting the hall ready and then working during the evening serving food and drinks to the revellers. LS

ROTARY EVENT A SUCCESS

THE Rotary Club of Bridgend was founded in 1925 and has an eventful and successful history of youth and charitable activity in the community.

It is part of a world-wide organisation but with strong local involvement.

Rotary, and in particular, The New Generations Committee, is pleased to support the South Wales Special Schools' Soccer Tournament, which was held on October 25, at Heronsbridge School.

This is an annual event which attracts a lot of local support.

The Youth Challenge Football Shield Tournament has been going since 2000 under the leadership and organising skills of Richard Howe, head of design and technology at Heronsbridge.

Richard has been running the tournament for the past 13 years, ably assisted by Rotarian Edgar Burt and the head of physical development, Mr Simon Type.

This year's event included; teams from Maes Gwyn, Aberdare; Greenfield School, Merthyr Tydfil; Ysgol Bryn Castell, Bridgend; Heronsbridge, Bridgend; Ysgol Hendre, Neath; and Headlands School, Penarth; to name but a few.

The Mayor of Bridgend County Borough, Coun Mayor Marlene Thomas, braved the cold and stayed for most of the tournament to present the prizes to the winners, Maes Gwyn School, Aberdare, and the runners up prize to Ysgol Bryn Castell.

She also gave prizes to the most improved team, Ysgol Hendre School, Neath and the Fair Play Trophy was won by Headlands School, Penarth.

All players received a medal for taking part in this wonderful competition.

Rotarian president, Rev Mike Lewis, attended early but was whisked away to begin a short break holiday in Lower Slaughter in the Cotswolds. Others on hand to give support were Rotarians Gillian Hale, Gwyn Thomas and Wayne Morgan MBE.

The tournament has been sponsored by Mr Derek Gaynor of Gaynor Group Ltd since it started some 13 years ago. A big thank you and congratulations go to the sponsors, organisers and teams for a sporting spectacular.

Fishing competitions are also held each season, with three schools taking part in each. From April to November, monthly fishing days are held on nearby lakes with groups from Heronsbridge.

Youth Speaks and Young Musician Competitions are held each year for senior schools. There is also a quiz competition and junior youth speaks competition organised for primary schools in the Bridgend area.

The club meets every Monday and details regarding membership can be obtained from Rotarian Mike Lewis. (Google Bridgend Rotary Club).

SUNNY SKIES GRACE VITAL SUMMER CHAMPIONSHIP AT LLANDOW KART CLUB

THE penultimate round of Llandow Kart Club's summer championship was graced by some of the best weather South Wales had seen in previous weeks, and allowed the 81-strong entry to perform under sunny skies on a dry circuit.

The event, which doubled as the finale to the expanded four-round Dragon Challenge, was opened as usual by the future of the club, as four Bambinos went through their paces.

Three of the quartet – Brooklyn Thomas, Oliver Thomas and Shayne Clarke – all achieved the gold award, while late entry Matthew Rees attained silver. All are experienced drivers now, and their lap times continue to come down steadily, with only marginal variations between each driver from month to month.

Another large Cadet field was next up, this time with 24 participants split between the Honda and Comer classes. The former was headed by Hugo Holmes who, having two top three results in the heats, came home ahead of Ryan Luscombe and Ross Thomas in the final.

Thomas won the two heats not claimed by Holmes, while Luscombe, Joshua Martin, Tommy Farrell, Alex Rees and Jordan Hurman all featured in the top three during the day. Luscombe's effort, however, was enough to ensure that he shared the Dragon Challenge title with Hurman.

The Comers, despite being a numerically smaller group, produced some of the closest competition of the day, with Tom Rawlings and Lewis Griffiths battling over top spot throughout.

The first two heats were shared, with respective margins of 0.92secs and 0.67secs, before Rawlings secured his place at the top of the podium with wins in both heat three and the final.

Max Fenlon and Kieran Clarke took turns in third place, with the latter being there when it mattered most. Griffiths also came second in the Dragon Challenge standings, behind Tommy Foster.

Six drivers turned out in Honda Junior but, once again, it proved difficult to dislodge Ben Stevens from top spot. Having dominated proceedings pretty much whenever he was on track at Llandow in 2012, Stevens again claimed four race wins, although Tom Ford kept him honest in three of the four encounters, getting closest in the final, where he finished just 0.53secs from victory.

Patrick Hill took second place in the one race that Ford could not pressure Stevens, but it was Thomas Croydon who came through to complete the podium in the final. Despite Stevens' dominance, it was Ford who emerged as Dragon Challenge champion, ahead of Croydon.

Junior TKM and Minimax were again combined, this time providing a 13-strong field that produced some close racing in both catgories.

Despite the names on the entry list, Ryan Edwards ultimately proved unbeatable in TKM, claiming four wins to sweep the day. Scott Morris and Ross Chell shared second places, with the latter coming out on top in the main race, where Yousuf Ashraf, having twice finished third in the heats, also claimed the bottom step of the podium.

Edwards sweep only served to confirm him as Dragon Challenge champion, with Louis Bevan finishing as runner-up.

There was also a clean sweep in Minimax, where Dunkeswell's Sam Stephens remained undefeated. Behind him, Ryan Nutland twice took second in the heats, but was excluded from the final, where Jodie Handford came within a couple of 10ths of catching and passing Stephens.

David Spiller took third place behind the Llandow girl racer, with Ceran Sokhi and Lucas Wynne, who had both claimed top three heat results, completing the finishers.

Unsurprisingly, Stephens' record was enough to ensure that he claimed the Dragon Challenge crown, ahead of runner-up Nutland.

Junior Rotax was a little thinner in terms of numbers, but still produced some interesting competition even after Sam Morgan got into his stride and claimed victory in the last three races.

James Moorcroft and Toby Allen were fixtures throughout in second and third places, except where Rob Ellis, winner of heat one, popped up to claim second spot in race three. Morgan and Moorcroft were later confirmed as joint champions in the Dragon Challenge.

Senior Honda once again proved to be the domain of remaining champion Simon Evans, but he did not have things all his own way for a change.

Having claimed heat one by a couple of seconds, Evans had to give second best to Nick Turley next time around, but was back in winning form in heat three, despite having had to chase down Alex Lewis for much of the race.

Lewis again proved to be his biggest rival in the final, crossing the line just over a second adrift, while Turley claimed third place. Evans, as expected, added the Dragon Challenge trophy to his burgeoning collection, while Danny Griffiths took the runner-up honours.

The Senior Rotax class was graced by a sizeable grid, as 15 karts turned out, including graduates Macaulay Austin and Sam Handford who made their senior debuts.

The newcomers wasted little time in making their mark, with Austin claiming three top three finishes in the heats, including a maiden win third time around. Handford followed him across the line on that occasion, beating earlier heat winners Matthew Dowers and Ashley Lewis in the process.

Come the final, however, it was Dowers to the fore as Austin ran into misfortune. Handford kept up the pressure, eventually taking second place just six-10hs behind the class stalwart, while the visiting Lewis claimed the bottom step of the podium just ahead of David Entwistle.

Lewis was also confirmed as the new Dragon Challenge champion, with Seb Hutchinson finishing second overall.

The 177 class wins were shared between Wayne Stone and Simon Wheeler, with the former coming out on top when it mattered in the final. Nicky Coombs was third.

Stone and Wheeler also finished first and second in the final Dragon Challenge standings.

Berlingo brings back memories

Motoring by Tim Saunders

The Citroen Berlingo Multispace.

WHEN I was young I lusted after the Matra Rancho (1977 to 1984), probably the first leisure activity vehicle, inspired by Range Rover – Kim Basinger came later for me.

Driving the Citroen Berlingo Multispace has reignited those memories as it looks similar, if taller than the Rancho.

At first glance the Pope-mobile styled design is not my typical choice of transport. However, it is a family-friendly people mover and a true multi-purpose vehicle – the perfect option for taking my wife, her parents and our baby daughter on a family trip to London.

The sliding rear doors are particularly easy to operate and are great for car parks where there's never enough room to open a normal car door properly without bashing the vehicle next to you. For this reason, strapping Harriett into her baby seat in the Berlingo is so much easier than usual.

The Citroen's boot makes light work of our luggage, consisting of numerous bags and a pushchair.

It's a marvellous family vehicle with plenty of cubby holes throughout as well as helpful overhead storage above the boot as you can see from the video at testdrives.biz. And there's a high driving position, too.

While at first the seats seem pretty comfortable, over a long journey they could be more supportive.

During our motorway jaunt Caroline's mum wants to get something from the boot and I am fully expecting to have to stop, but she discovers that the boot cover can be lifted from inside. The designers have really thought about the design of this vehicle.

Inside, occupants are treated to a spacious and snazzy interior with a dash of blue on the fabrics, complimenting the door trims and giving a bright and bubbly feel, which is so often lacking in the clinical interiors of today. The dashboard is both user-friendly and funky. Copious amounts of glass ensure that it's light and airy inside.

The handbrake is right next to the driver's seat, a bit too close for comfort but you get used to it after a while. Its gutsy 1.6-litre, 90bhp diesel engine can cover more than 600 miles with its 60-litre tank. While the five-speed box is perfectly adequate I do wonder whether a sixth gear might further improve economy.

Rear passengers get their own roof mounted air vents and fan control. During a balmy summer's day the air conditioning makes for a much more pleasant environment.

From the outside the Berlingo Multispace is surprisingly compact when you consider the vast expanse of room inside. The mammoth tailgate makes a great shelter from the rain – in fact it is easy to imagine sitting on the edge of the boot and having a civilised picnic, with table, all under cover.

The downside is that the driver has to remember to leave space behind them in order to access the boot, making roadside parking an issue.

When driving, it does feel a little remote and cumbersome, particularly on manoeuvring to overtake. When the driver looks over their right shoulder, to check all is clear, their vision is impeded by the centre pillar, so extra care is required. There's no cruise control for motorway travelling either.

And if fifth gear is engaged at 30mph the vehicle shudders, resulting in a rattle from the dash.

Parkers, the car experts, say: "Spacious, practical and brimming with family-friendly features, the Berlingo Multispace is a five-seat people carrier for buyers on a budget.

"It sits between the cheaper Xsara Picasso and stylish C4 Picasso in the Citroen range but, unlike its predecessor, is no longer based on a van. Instead, it uses car underpinnings, is comfortable and surprisingly good to drive as a result."

Similar to variants from both Fiat and Peugeot, which are also unconventionally styled, these vehicles are popular with families, but the Citroen is particularly so because of its incredibly well-designed interior, keen price and strong economy.

Citroen Berlingo Multispace VTR HDi 90.

New price range: £12,795 - £16,795.

Top speed: 102mph.

Power: 90bhp.

0-60mph: 14.3secs.

Road tax: £120 a year.

Show jumpers benefit from grant scheme

A SHOW jumping club in the Vale is hoping to ride off the back of Team GB's success at London 2012 and help inspire a new generation to excel in the sport.

The 'British Show Jumping Area 35' club has been based at Spring Meadows in Llandow for several years, but following a £1,500 grant from the Community Chest scheme they are now offering new coaching sessions that will help riders of all ages reach their potential.

Among the 65 medals won by Team GB at this summer's Olympics was a first show jumping gold in 60 years, and the impact has been felt in the rural Vale as local horse owners have been contacting the club to find out how they can train their horses and get involved.

Charlotte Edwards, from Spring Meadows, said: "We've been inundated with enquiries since the Olympics and this Community Chest grant will really help us to provide high level training on a regular basis.

"We are using a UKCC level 3 coach, which would be out of the question for many members, and to have an indoor facility during the winter is just a dream. There is a lot of hidden talent in the Vale and these coaching sessions will help to unearth and encourage that talent."

Riders aged from 10 and above are welcome at the sessions, which take place on various days during the week, and potential club members need to own their own horse.

Coun Gwyn John, the Vale Council's cabinet member for leisure, said: "The Vale has a strong background in horse riding, with successful racing trainers basing themselves here such as Evan Williams and Tim Vaughan.

"It is fantastic news that the show jumping club are able to offer these new sessions with the support of the Community Chest scheme, and I hope that local horse owners of all ages make the most of this excellent opportunity."

A total amount of £28,408.44 was awarded in the latest round of Community Chest grants in the Vale, with the funding pot including £1,190.45 to help Penarth Town AFC set up a new under-13s junior football team, £1,484.64 for 'Fundamental Sports' to develop multisport sessions, and £1,500 for the Penarth and District Scout Group to introduce youngsters to water sports activities.

To discuss a potential Community Chest application for your sports club or organisation, call the Vale Council's sports and play development manager Karen Davies on 01446 704793.

Barry RFC Bowl-ed over

BARRY RFC travelled to Glyncoch last Saturday in the latest round of fixtures in the SWALEC Bowl competition.

With a strong north-easterly wind blowing across the field, the spectators were soon as blue as the winter sky!

The home side soon showed why they are the current holders of the trophy and could boast an unbeaten run of 40 or so competitive games.

Under the guidance of a very competent fly half, they began making large tranches of ground even though they were playing against the elements.

Barry's tackling was going well and they had the first opportunity to score from a penalty attempt. This was unsuccessful, but not so the penalty soon afterwards awarded to the home side.

With little useful possession, Barry were unable to make much progress into opposition territory. Consequently the backs had little chance to parade their skills.

However, Barry were far from out of the game; there were good contributions from Lee, Hadfield and Alex Evans. The Glyncoch full back was able to inject some pace into the proceedings but failed to convert this ability into points.

The first half ended with Barry in deficit by just three points, but having to face the wind at the resumption.

With Tanner, Hollister and King featuring prominently, Barry started the second period brightly. This good work was undone by some poor tackling and lax defence, which allowed an elusive home full back to create havoc and set up a long-range converted try.

Barry narrowed the gap when, following good approach work, McTavish was bundled over the line. Lee added the extra points. The game then swung the way of Glyncoch, who surprised the visitors with a quick throw at the lineout – before defenders could react the try had been scored.

Glyncoch now began to dominate proceedings and claimed another long-range try. To their credit Barry stirred themselves and set up a long siege of the home try-line. With captain Jones, Alyn Evans and O'Sullivan figuring prominently, they battled away until the Glyncoch defence crumbled, allowing Buckland to crash over. Lee's conversion was the last score of the game, the match finishing 27-14.

Glyncoch proved to be a well-drilled and fit side, as reflected in their recent playing record. However, Barry were far from being disgraced and did score two deserved tries against a team which will be the best they will face this season.

Barry: Adams, Alex Evans, Buckland, Ryan, Tim Poole, Lee, Williams, Hollister, Alyn Evans, O'Sullivan, Tanner, King, Parker, Hadfield, Jones (captain). Replacements: Dix, Lundy, McTavish, Owain Poole.

Complete grading success for the Cadoxton Schools of Tae Kwon Do

LAST month, the Cadoxton Schools of Tae Kwon Do held their third and last colour belt grading of the year.

The grading took place at the Victoria Park Community Centre. It saw 26 students from as young as four sitting the exam.

The grading was conducted by master Ron Thomas eighth Dan, assisted by Jamie Halford fourth Dan. It was a success, with all 26 students passing their grading, two of whom achieved top grade 'A' passes – Evan Baron and Ellie-Ann Osbourne.

Results

PROMOTED to 10a orange stripe – Courtney James; promoted to 9th kup orange belt – Ben Phillips, Kurtis James and Maddison Allen; 8th kup yellow belt – Brooke Baker, Ellie-Ann Osbourne, Jenson Rees, Mason Blackley and Jessica Blackley.

7th kup green stripe – Joel Wells, Emily Halford and Thomas Pugh; 6th kup green belt – Cody Jacobsen, Evan Baron and Jake Quigley; 5th kup blue stripe – Demi Baker, Daniel Quigley and Cian Allen.

3rd kup red stripe – Alan Evans, Gabrielle Thorne, Ryan Thorne and Cameron Williams; 2nd kup red belt – Shannon Haysham, Jasmine Sullivan, Molly Shivers and Thomas Shivers.

Pictured with their instructors are the successful candidates.

Dinas' fine unbeaten run comes to abrupt halt away from home

THE eight-league-game unbeaten run for Dinas Powys came to an end at Aberbargoed on Saturday.

In difficult windy conditions it was the hosts who settled quickest and in the second minute Dinas keeper Damian Lack collided with a Buds striker but was able to continue after treatment. The hosts were restricted to long range efforts, most of which were off target.

Steffan Davies forced an early corner for Dinas which Buds keeper Asa Kirkwood managed to gather under pressure.

Dinas skipper Adam Raymond hit a rasping 35-yard free-kick but Kirkwood managed to hold on to it.

In a rather scrappy first half, it was Dinas who came closest to scoring when Davies cut in from the left, leaving three defenders in his wake, and his shot beat Kirkwood but hit the foot of the post and the defence scrambled it away. At the other end, just before the break, Lack was forced into a double save to keep his goal intact and the half ended goalless.

The second half was a different story, with the visitors dominating for long periods. Gareth Tedstone, back in the Dinas fold after a short spell at Ton Pentre, was introduced, replacing Liam Jeremy, who had a tight cal,f and Dinas forced several corners, which were taken by Raymond. One of these found centre back Chris Hinam who headed against the bar.

Buds were dangerous on the break and Ross Fowler linked up with Wayne Antoniazzi but he shot wide when well placed. It was the hosts' substitute Jordan Masey, however, who got the only goal of the game when he caught the Dinas defence napping and his shot went in off the left upright on 25 minutes.

Dinas laid seige to the Buds goal for the rest of the game, introducing Joe Hinds for Richard Yarr, but the nearest they came to an equaliser was another header by Hinam from a corner which went over the bar.

This Saturday Dinas travel to play Briton Ferry Llansawel with a 2pm kick-off.

Chess club round-up

AS we are almost two months into the new season I felt it is an opportune moment to review how well the Barry Chess Club is performing.

In Division One, the Bosons sit somewhat uncomfortably in sixth place in a division of 10. For a team with aspirations to challenge for the title this is disappointing. Of note in their games has been the consistent performances of Nigel Ralphs and Lee Davis.

This season, Nigel has stepped up to the second board and thus is playing stronger players. He has been a model of consistency and has held all four of his opponents to a draw.

Lee has previously occupied one of the top two boards, but after a poor season last year has found himself relegated to board three. Now, after four games, he has four wins.

In division Two, the Camelots sit comfortably in third place, one point ahead of their nearest rivals.

This team was relegated from the first division last year and after three games is on course to earn promotion.

Interestingly, both Lee and Nigel have also turned out for this team but have not shown the same levels of consistency as when they have represented the Bosons.

In their last match, the Camelots had a 5-0 whitewash win over the North Cardiff Woodpushers.

In the third division we have two representatives, the Quarks and the Gambits. There have been five rounds of games in this division, and the Quarks currently occupy second place. They have just lost their first match this season against current leaders, the Cardiff Crowns.

However, there is a 3–5 point margin between the Quarks and the team just outside the promotion places in fourth place.

The Gambits are currently in sixth place. After a good start to the season they have faded badly, picking up 1–5 points out of 10 in their last two games. They are only 0–5 points outside the relegation spot and will need to start picking up points immediately.

The Barry Chess Club meets each Monday at their home venue of The West End Club, St Nicholas Road, Barry, CF62 6QY, with matches starting at 7.30pm. New players of all ages and standards are welcome.

NEW KIT FOR THE IMPS UNDER-14S

Cadoxton Imps A under-14s are pictured sporting their new football kit, proudly sponsored by 'Ruckley's' of Holton Road, Barry. On behalf of the team, Andrew Smith (coach) would like to thank Fay and Jake Ruckley, as without the support of local businesses, teams would struggle to supply kit for the youngsters.
